

Dodge, Adviser To Presidents, Dies In Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Banker Joseph M. Dodge, adviser to presidents and the man credited with putting postwar Japan on a firm financial footing, is dead at 74.

Dodge, chairman of the Detroit Bank & Trust Co. until his semi-retirement last January, died Wednesday in Harper Hospital of a heart condition. He suffered a heart attack last September.

Death came to Dodge four days before he was to have been honored at the dedication of his bank's new multimillion dollar downtown Detroit headquarters building. He was president and later chairman over a period of 31 years.

Dodge was to have been honored at a ceremony attended by Gov. George Romney, Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh and Detroit cultural and educational leaders.

No College Education

Dodge, who came to banking success from a clerk's job in an insurance company, spent years in the service of his country while also looking after Detroit Bank & Trust, one of the nation's 25 largest banks. The institution has assets of more than $1.2 billion.

A Detroit native, Dodge became one of the nation's top men in banking with only a high school education.

He probably was best known for the economic restoration job he did for Japan after World War II. This was one of his assignments under three presidents.

He worked in Japan under President Truman in the capacity of U. S. minister and financial adviser to Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Tokyo in 1949-51. The Japanese government decorated him for his achievements in currency reform. He did likewise for West Germany.

Dodge was President Eisenhower's director of the budget in 1953-54. He was the first federal budget director to sit in all meetings of the Cabinet.

Honored By Truman

In 1951, at President Kennedy's request, he served as treasurer of the Tractors for Freedom Committee which through public donations financed shipment of tractors to Fidel Castro's Cuba in return for Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners taken by Castro.

He served in numerous other government assignments. President Truman gave him the Medal of Merit in 1946. He was a former president of the American Bankers Association.

Dodge had been recovering from his heart attack of last September, suffered at his suburban Grosse Pointe home. His condition suddenly Saturday and he was readmitted to the hospital.

He leaves his widow, Julia, his wife of 48 years, and a son, Joseph Dodge, directors of the Jacksonville, Fla., Cummer Gallery of Art.

Services will be Friday from the William H. Hamilton Funeral Home in Detroit.

Gov. Romney Key Figure In Rebuilding Of GOP

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney flies to Denver today for a Republican rebuilding conference that could thrust him even higher in the ranks of the nationally-shattered party.

Romney, calling repeatedly for broadening and unifying of the party, has disclaimed any major role as an individual. But since he governs a major state and was one of the few significant Republican winners in November, his influence could be sizeable at the meeting of 17 Republican governors.

The governor said Wednesday he thinks the leadership level of the GOP should take rebuilding action by early next year.

But he refuses to expand on this suggestion or others he plans to offer at the Denver meeting.

Must Be Group Plan

As it has been single the election, Romney's theme is that the rebuilding program must be hammered out and presented as a group plan rather than proposed piecemeal by individuals. Consistent with this he has refused to castigate any segment of the party for the November results.

But that neutrality could be forced to disappear if the governors consider any strongly worded resolutions on such topics as the suggested ouster of Dean Burch as national chairman.

Romney hinted Wednesday at some dissatisfaction with the national committee when he refused to commit himself to favoring a place for the committee in the leadership action he suggests.

He did repeat, however, that Sen. Barry Goldwater, the presidential nominee whom Romney would not endorse, should have a place in the leadership.

He said that governors alone cannot rebuild the party. He cautioned against expecting the governors' meeting to solve all problems.

Rockefeller Irked

Romney said he does hope it can present recommendations leading to broader-based meetings which can work at party unity and broadening.

Governors are to meet tonight in an unofficial session, reportedly to settle on an agenda and perhaps some statements before their formal meetings Friday and Saturday.

Romney's stature at the meeting may depend to some extent on how much any of the moderate governors such as New York's Nelson Rockefeller and Pennsylvania's William Scranton are still irked by Romney's refusal to join them in a platform fight at the GOP national convention.

Some conservatives didn't like it when he refused to endorse Goldwater.

Against some comments that he's a "Lonesome George" politically, Romney claimed Wednesday that during much of his trade association he had to induce cooperation without having much authority to use. Techniques thus learned, Romney indicated, he seeks to use politically.

Strike Settled; Theaters Reopen In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Franciscans can look forward to their first movie-going weekend in nearly three weeks and downtown merchants hope for a business revival. Most of the city's major first-run houses are expected to open tonight following settlement of a labor dispute.

The theaters, which normally attract hordes of people into downtown San Francisco during the late evening hours, darkened their neon because of the dispute and the glitter and bustle vanished on Market Street.

But Richard F. Walsh and Ben Levin said Wednesday that a new contract had finally been approved for projectionists. Negotiations had dragged on since August 1963.

Sheriff Vetoes Beatle Shirts For Prisoners

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Prisoners at the Jackson County jail wear sweatshirts in the winter months, and when Sheriff Arvid Owsley requisitioned two gross sweatshirts the county purchasing agent's office responded with a $48 alternative: $15.50 a dozen, orthodox sweatshirts.

$13.50 a dozen, blue sweatshirts adorned with "The Beatles" and likenesses of the British mop-tops.

Sheriff Owsley exercised a veto when he found the blue ones could not be dyed. "Some of the prisoners would be insulted," he said. "And as far as I am concerned we have enough Beatles in the jail already."

American Convicted In Soviet Spy Case

Pope Confers With Leaders Of Old Faiths

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Pope Paul VI met today with leaders of ancient oriental religions and told them all men must "begin to work together to build the common future of the human race."

Marking a new dimension in the outlook of the Roman Catholic Church, the Pope asked the sages of Hinduism, Islam, Buddhism, Zoroastrianism and other non-Christian faiths: "Are we not all one in this struggle for a better world, in this effort to make available to all people those goods which are needed to fulfill their human destiny and to live lives worthy of the children of God?"

He paused, then added: "We must come closer together. We must come together with our hearts, in mutual understanding, esteem and love."

On this, the second day of his historic four-day visit to India, where the Pope is being received with a welcome of phenomenal enormity and zest, he also had meetings with leaders of other Christian bodies.

His callers at the residence of Bombay's Roman Catholic archbishop included bishops and officials of the Church of South India, a historic merger involving about a million Protestants of formerly separate communions.

Also present for conversations initiated by the Pope were representatives of the ancient Mar Thoma Syrian Church; the Methodist Church in Southern Asia; the Anglican Church of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon; the Evangelical Lutheran Federation, the North India Provincial Synod Methodist Church, and the National Christian Council of India.

Nativity Scene At Grand Haven

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—This Lake Michigan City is all set now to go ahead with the Dec. 9 dedication of its "Nativity Scene."

The Nativity Scene, rising on Dewey Hill across the Grand River, conceivably may become world famous in the future.

Gov. George W. Romney sent word Wednesday that he would be able to appear at the dedication. This was all that was lacking for the night-time affair.

The Nativity Scene, including more than 70 characters, some of them more than 30 feet tall, is laid along Dewey Hill, a sand dune on the Grand River's opposite bank.

Colored lights from the Dewey Hill fountain will play upon the painted, plywood figures.

The Biblical scene, extending for half a block in length, includes angels 20 feet tall with 20-foot wing spreads. The three kings' camels are 32 feet high.

Builders of the scene, including Mayor William Creason's wife, Mary, the artist, say it's the largest of its kind in the world.

Mrs. Creason, a licensed plane pilot, will fly Gov. Romney here from Lansing for dedication night.

Witness Accused Of Lying About Political Payoff

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Carl T. Curtis said today it's up to the Justice Department to square conflicting testimony about an alleged secret payoff to the Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund in 1960.

The Nebraska Republican said the issue has boiled down to "one man says yes, another says no, and the third man takes the Fifth Amendment and won't talk."

Matthew H. McCloskey, 71, former ambassador to Ireland, Wednesday accused insurance man Don B. Reynolds of lying when Reynolds swore McCloskey was a part of the alleged payoff scheme.

"He hasn't told you the truth once," the white-haired former Democratic National Committee fund raiser snapped.

Baker Won't Talk

Baker, the man who Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said "could talk" and square the conflict in Reynolds and McCloskey's testimony, refused to answer questions about his role in the alleged kickback.

Reynolds told the Senate Rules Committee Tuesday he was the "bag man" for Baker and McCloskey.

He testified he wrote the performance bond for McCloskey's construction firm when it built the Washington, D.C., sports stadium and was overpaid on the premium by $35,000.

Reynolds said he gave Baker $25,000, kept $10,000 for himself, and that Baker was to funnel the money into the campaign fund.

Baker is a former $19,600-a-year secretary to the Senate Democratic majority. An earlier inquiry into his outside business activities by the committee found him "guilty of many gross improprieties."

Deal Described

The nattily dressed former page boy refused to answer questions 46 times Wednesday, invoking his constitutional protection against possible self-incrimination.

Matthew McCloskey

McCloskey denied heatedly any knowledge of the payoff deal described by Reynolds.

"I don't care what he testified," the retired builder said.

A copy of a letter from Reynolds billing McCloskey for a performance bond on the contract was placed in evidence.

William K. Stewart, financial vice president of the McCloskey firm, testified he worked out a deal with Reynolds and Baker whereby Reynolds' insurance company could be brokers of record on the bond and general liability insurance for the project.

Reynolds billed McCloskey for the amount of both premiums and was paid $109,205.60, Stewart said. He added Reynolds was supposed to deduct his commissions and then pay the agent in the deal for the actual amount of the insurance.

Stewart claimed Reynolds must have pocketed the money he was supposed to forward to the agent, and that the McCloskey company later had to pay it.

Engineer Faces Death Penalty With Russian

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—A Soviet chauffeur and an American electronics engineer were convicted Wednesday night of conspiracy to commit espionage for the Soviet Union.

The verdict could mean death. Their penalty will be decided by U.S. District Court Judge Anthony T. Augelli, who presided over the 36-day trial. No date has been set for sentencing.

A federal jury of eight women and four men deliberated 9½ hours before returning the verdict against the American, John W. Butenko, 39, and his codefendant, Igor A. Ivanov, 34.

Butenko and Ivanov were convicted of conspiring to relay secret Air Force information to the Soviet Union and of conspiring to violate the law requiring foreign agents to register with the State Department. Butenko also was convicted of acting as an unregistered agent for the foreign power — the Soviet Union.

Shows Strain Of Trial

Butenko, a bachelor of Russian descent, said nothing as the jury forelady, Miss Michilena M. Deluca, announced the verdict. But the strain of the grueling trial showed on his face as he was led from the courtroom to be taken back to the Hudson County jail, where he has been held without bail since his arrest Oct. 29, 1963.

Ivanov, a crew-cut, blond Soviet citizen listened to an earphone linked to a translator as the verdict was announced. Ivanov, who worked as a driver for a Soviet trade agency in New York, is said to speak little English.

Both defendants kept their eyes on the jury as each member was polled at the request of a defense attorney. One juror said afterward that the panel had been in general agreement throughout the deliberations.

Butenko Denies Charge

Augelli granted a request by Ivanov's attorney to continue Ivanov's bail at $100,000. The bail was put up Dec. 20 by the Soviet Embassy, permitting Ivanov to go home to his wife and daughter in New York City to await trial.

Wednesday night Aleksei P. Kosikov, of the Soviet Embassy, said Mrs. Ivanov returned to the Soviet Union earlier this year with her 7-year-old daughter, Irina. Mrs. Ivanov gave birth to a son last month in Moscow, he added.

Butenko took the witness stand for two days to deny the government charges. He said he met a Soviet diplomat in New Jersey on at least two occasions to seek information about relatives in the Soviet Union. He said he had never met Ivanov until after their arrest in a dark, deserted parking lot in Englewood, Ivanov did not testify.

Thieves Snatch Pickup Truck And 4 Horses

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—There's a new twist to horse thievery in this one-time frontier capital.

Jean McHarg reported thieves stole a one-ton pickup truck and a four-horse trailer from in front of her home Wednesday. They then drove to her suburban ranch and stole four prize horses.

Miss McHarg told police the horses were worth $25,000 and the trailer rig and truck about $8,000.

Closing Of Bases Affects 28,500 Civilian Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Only 28,500 of the 63,401 jobs to be eliminated under the Pentagon's latest base-closing order are held by civilians, the Defense Department reported Wednesday.

The rest are filled by military personnel.

Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara announced last month that 80 bases in the United States and 15 overseas were being shut down for economy reasons.

Aged Actor Has Brain Surgery

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Percy Kilbride, who won fame in the movies as "Pa Kettle," is recuperating in a rest home from brain surgery performed last month in a Los Angeles hospital.

Kilbride, 76, was transferred to the home Wednesday. The brain surgery resulted from injuries suffered when he was struck by a train.

First Methodist Church Addition Is Now Assured

A Crusade Goal of $70,000, new building will provide a nursery, a choir rehearsal room, a church office and library and an enclosed main entrance into the church.

Parking area will be made available at the rear, with entrance into the church from that area, as well as from the street side.

The plans are the result of a study made by various committees of the congregation, coordinated into a master plan determined to best suit the present and future needs of the church by a special building committee. Members of this committee are Thomas McKinnis, Donald Ness, Carl J. Sawyer, Harvey Germanson and Howard Peterson.

The Financial Crusade was directed by a committee of, in addition to the co-chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Germanson, canvass co-chairmen; Donald Ness, leadership pledges chairman; David Nordin, canvass assistant; Eugene Hebert, publicity; Lowell Hebbard, stewardship power committee chairman; Harvey Pierson, fellowship committee chairman; Elaine Ness, telephone committee chairman; Douglas Walker, stewardship education committee chairman; and Anna Anderson, clerical chairman. Milton J. Embis, chairman of the Official Board, assisted the Crusade Committee.

First Methodist Church was one of the earliest congregations to be founded in the City of Escanaba, having its beginning in a series of prayer meetings held in private homes in the year 1869. Formal incorporation came on June 6, 1871.

The present church structure is the third to be built at the same location, and was constructed in 1907. It is of English architectural style, with native stone exterior.

Present trustees of First Methodist Church include J. W. Foster, chairman; Richard Larsen, vice chairman; Lyle J. Plozman, secretary; C. J. Sawyer, Alvin P. Ness, Howard Peterson and Milton W. Nordin.

The Rev. J. Bruce Brown is the pastor of the church.

EDUCATIONAL building addition to the First Methodist Church was designed by G. Arntzen Co., Escanaba, architects for the project. The sketch shows the addition as it will extend south from the Church proper along S. 6th St.

Hunters Spend Over 13 Million

LANSING (AP) — Michigan deer hunters spent more than $13 million on food, lodging and recreation during the recent 16-day season, according to preliminary figures from a Central Michigan University study.

The survey of Michigan's over-all tourist and recreational travel picture is being conducted under a special $75,000 grant from the State Legislature.

The preliminary survey of the economic impact of the deer season was based on more than 2,700 interviews with hunters, reported Charles Owens, survey director.

Owens said the dollar figure did not include money spent on transportation, equipment and license sales.

The average party was found to be about four persons hunting 5½ days. The average hunter spent about $30 during that period, the survey found.

The 15-month-long survey will cover every season of the year and is designed to give tourism officials a more accurate assessment of the economic value of the tourist industry.

Rates Reduced On Compensation

LANSING (AP) — A decrease in the average rate level of Michigan Workmen's Compensation for the second straight year was announced by State Insurance Commissioner Allen Mayerson.

A reduction of 2.2 per cent, approved by the State Insurance Department, will apply to all new compensation insurance policies starting Dec. 1, and to all existing policies when they are renewed.

In 1963, Mayerson said, the average rate level dropped 4.4 per cent.

As in 1963, he said, the rate level reduction results from the state's booming economy.

Industrial and business payrolls, which are the measure of loss exposure against which workmen's compensation rates are charged, have continued to increase. This larger rate base has produced insurance premiums which have equalled or exceeded what was needed to meet the losses in the majority of employment.

Higher rates were necessary, however, for some industries which had greater than average loss increases.

Workmen's compensation insurance now is providing more than $50 million a year in payments to Michigan workers for injuries and occupational illness, Mayerson said.

Four Arrested For Shoplifting

Four persons, one from Menominee and three from Delta County have been arrested for shoplifting on complaint of proprietors of Escanaba stores.

Mrs. Geraldine Wellman, Bark River Rte. 1, pleading guilty to shoplifting at Neisners and Woolworths in November, was ordered to pay a penalty of $55 fine and costs.

Mrs. Maxine Anderson of 513 S. 14th St., was ordered to pay $20 fine and costs or serve 10 days in jail for shoplifting at Kresges.

Alvin Hammerberg of Escanaba Rte. 1 has disposition pending in Municipal Court for shoplifting at the Piggly Wiggly Super Market; and Frank Frisque of Nadeau was ordered by Municipal Court to pay $20 or serve 10 days in jail for shoplifting at the Piggly Wiggly store.

Olsen Elected Delta Chairman By Democrats

Robert Olsen of 703 S. 14th St., a teacher of speech, journalism and social sciences at Rapid River High School and civic leader is the new chairman of the Delta County Democratic Committee.

Robert Olsen

He succeeds Atty. James Chapekis, who resigned earlier this year, and Mrs. John Meier, who was named acting chairman, and he has been serving as chairman in the campaign just past. Mrs. Meier was elected vice chairman of the committee at a meeting of the Delta County Democratic Executive Committee in Escanaba at the office of Atty. Nicholas Chapekis Wednesday afternoon. Terms are two years.

Olsen, a past commander of Cloverland Post 82, American Legion, has been active in junior baseball and other activities besides politics.

Also elected were Mrs. Elnora Vader, secretary, and Mrs. Ann Villeneuve, treasurer, and Claude Tobin, director of public relations.

Members of the executive committee are James Chapekis, Mrs. Rodger Murray, Claude Tobin, Leo DeRoeck, James Schram, James Anderson, Robert Olsen, Mrs. Villeneuve, Sheriff Cully Johnson, Prosecutor Nicholas Chapekis, County Clerk William Butler, Representative Einar Erlandsen, Representative Dominic Jacobetti, and A. M. Schneider of Indian River, unsuccessful Democratic nominee for 37th District state senator.

The committee specially recognized the contribution of volunteer party workers in manning its campaign headquarters at Escanaba, Gladstone, Rock and Rapid River. It commended the efforts of Glen Moreau and Todd Gayeff, unsuccessful candidates for state senator, and declared that Representative Erlandsen would be a "powerful and experienced" voice for the district in the Legislature.

Olsen said: "The county's long time Democratic majority was again evident in this election when voters in both cities and townships turned in substantial leads for the party's candidates. A combination of factors for local success included: an extremely successful registration program, all-out efforts to get out the vote, an unprecedented number of volunteer workers, rebuilding of the township organization and effective and experienced candidates."

Olsen said that Raymond Clevenger had been invited to

Conservation Hums

James A. O. Crowe, outdoor specialist, writes in the Detroit News that the Michigan Department of Conservation has changed "from an agency wallowing in inertia into one which is vibrant with new life, energy and inspiration."

Governor Romney's 21-member citizens committee that studied the Conservation Department and made far-ranging recommendations for changes reported on Dec. 2, 1963 and the next day the Governor named Robert C. McLaughlin of Detroit, chairman of the study committee, to the Conservation Commission to see that the reorganization went forward.

The commission, which had started its own reorganization, "grabbed the report with joy and ran with it. Dr. Ralph A. MacMullan, former assistant game chief and deputy director, took over reins (as director) that were already pulsating with a new spirit, and today the department is at full gallop towards regaining its former position as the leading conservation department in the country," writes Crowe.

Most recent manifestation of the department's new spirit is its project to plant kokanee salmon in two state lakes. These prized sockeye salmon have been extensively established as far east as Pennsylvania and while native to the West have been found a source of much good inland lake fishing where suitable waters can be found. It's planned to plant other inland lakes and the Great Lakes eventually.

Young (41) Dr. Howard A. Tanner, the new chief of the Michigan Conservation Department Fish Section, developed the salmon planting project. He's a fine example of the Department's new get-up-and-go attitude. He's a native of Michigan, attended Western Michigan and Michigan State University and did his degree work on Michigan fish management.

He went to Colorado State University in 1952, in 1961 was appointed chief of the fisheries staff of the Colorado Game and Fish Department. Coming home to Michigan, Dr. Tanner said "I am particularly excited by the opportunity of coming to an organization which has recently accepted a new look in many of its programs."

Michigan can look to the Fish Section, as it can to the Game Section and Forestry Section and Parks Section and all the other divisions of the Conservation Department for new outlook and activities. Crowe writes "Other evidences of the revitalization of the department are everywhere you look. In-service training courses for department employees have been resumed on an aggressive schedule after years without them and the subsequent deterioration in efficiency and morale."

There's more money coming to the Department from the Federal Land and Waters Fund starting in 1965 and some of it will be passed along to finance local conservation projects that fit the state's master plan, as well as to bolster the Department's program throughout the state. The Department can do much more for the people, and it is on its way to doing it.

The other side of the coin is the people themselves. They can do much more for themselves in conservation. They can do it by supporting the Department in research and experimentation, in experimental projects and in programs which have the endorsement of the Department's scientists.

To give this support the people must understand what the Department is planning to do and why. The sort of public information service necessary is difficult and it's expensive, but it is vital to any progressive conservation program.

On its part the public can do a great deal to get more value for its conservation tax dollars. Its sportsmen's clubs, for instance, can adopt the positive attitude so pronounced in the Conservation Department now. Instead of being in the familiar stance of opposition to Conservation Department policy they can be not only in support of it, but making enlarged new demands upon the Department to provide much with more fish, more game, more services and especially more information. This sort of cooperation could revolutionize conservation activity in Michigan and make the state nationally outstanding.

Crowe writes that Thomas L. Kimball of Washington, director of the National Wildlife Federation, said "That reorganization you have going there seems now to have developed its own momentum. I don't think anybody could stop it now if they wanted to." Let's hope not.

Toothless Tahiti

Scratch one more romantic illusion:

Those lovely native girls who adorn those sun-swept, pure white beaches of the South Pacific are, likely as not, toothless if they are over the age of 10—or at least cavity-ridden.

Reporting on a study conducted by the World Health Organization of 11,500 Polynesian children from 3 to 16, Swiss dental scientist Dr. Louis J. Baume puts it this way:

"Dental conditions, particularly in Tahiti, must be termed as catastrophic."

Devastation by caries (decay) was found to be almost 100 per cent. Extraction of all natural teeth was considered by most adolescents as a salvation from a long experience of pain.

Tahiti's idyllic image was not without foundation in fact, however, for Tahitians of the 18th century were famous for their excellent dental health from birth to old age.

Blame civilization and bad nutrition habits—too many carbohydrates and too little protein—for this situation, which sounds bad enough to have Fletcher Christian begging Captain Bligh to take him back to England.

Promises

Fidel Castro has informed his people that a severe housing shortage exists in Cuba. This was not news; what was noteworthy was his prediction that it would take 26 years to remedy the situation.

Castro estimated that the problem would be solved if two million houses and apartments could be built by 1990.

But beginning in 1966, he admonished, all construction would have to be done "strictly according to blueprints."

That could help. Khrushchev once promised the Russian people that they would surpass the United States in everything by 1970 and that then they would enter the long-promised land of genuine communism where no one would want, no one would cry.

"Mind if We Join in?"

Washington Comment

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NFA) — Tran Van Son (fictitious name) is a slender, unassuming 43-year-old Vietnamese newspaper-magazine publisher and former guerrilla fighter.

Three months ago, when I talked with him in Saigon, he was dead set against "going North." In a free-for-all discussion among Vietnamese newspaper editors, publishers and reporters that I was in on, he argued quietly but strongly that the war had to be won in the south and that attacking North Viet Nam would serve no purpose.

Several days ago I had lunch with Son here in Washington. He was traveling through on his way home from a conference in Latin America. His whole mood had changed.

"We've got to move north," he insisted. "We must do it soon."

I asked him what had changed his opinion so radically since those August arguments in Saigon.

"We've lost so heavily during the past three months," he said, "that we have got to do something to take off the pressure in the south."

Son thinks a move to the north would indeed bring a stepup in Red Viet Cong attacks in the south. But that doesn't bother him. He believes the war has now deteriorated so badly that only some positive action will unite the people.

The Vietnamese Army now finds it difficult to get recruits. Son thinks 50,000 young and middle-aged men would volunteer for going north. (Students, commandos, special force troops, professors and officials told me the same thing in Saigon. There I talked to groups of students who asserted they'd quit school to go north anytime they were asked.)

In the second place, he says, there are many thousands of Vietnamese with experience as guerrilla fighters in the war against the French.

When I was in Viet Nam I was told that when the country was split into north and south somewhat over a decade ago, many North Vietnamese volunteered to stay in the north and be underground agents. But President Diem was suspicious and refused to take advantage of their offers.

Son isn't very enthusiastic about bombing North Viet Nam. He thinks that won't get us very far.

The strategy that will pay off, he believes, is sending armed underground political agents to the north—men who would move in and stay for years, undercutting the North Vietnamese Communists at the grass roots.

Son points to a map, indicating where he thinks the infiltrators should go. For example, he says, there's considerable dissatisfaction in the Thai-Meo tribal country "over here in the northwest, and in these Neng tribal regions in the northeast." He pinpoints several other mushy, promising areas.

These infiltrators should be primarily political workers, he says, and saboteurs on the side. They'd work on the dissatisfactions of the people, build a political base. They'd gradually build up the determination of the people in the areas in which they worked to resist Ho Chi Minh's Red North Vietnamese government.

When these agents build up sufficient strength and cooperation, they'd encourage the people, says Son, not to join the Red Army or militia, not to work for the Red government, not to allow their children to go to the Red schools, not to co-operate in supplying food to the government collectors. They'd also gather intelligence and carry out some sabotage.

"I'd be ready to go right now, myself," he said.

The Doctor Says:

Spurious Drugs Watched

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Counterfeiting is not limited to currency. Some unscrupulous persons have found it profitable to counterfeit drugs. But the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is on the alert to detect and apprehend these criminals.

Although some of these drugs may be sold in local pharmacies, the counterfeiters deal chiefly in black market distribution. Of more than 900 drug stores visited, only nine were found to be selling spurious drugs. The counterfeiters run mostly on such products as amphetamines (pep pills) and barbiturates (sleeping pills). In 12 months ending in June, the FDA obtained 25 convictions.

These counterfeiters spend no money on research and development or on advertising and are thus able to undersell the legitimate manufacturers. But because of the absence of strict quality control, their products may be dangerous for the consumer. The identification of counterfeit drugs has become as exact a science as the identification of bullets and murder weapons.

The machine marks left by legitimate manufacturers' pill presses can never be exactly duplicated by the counterfeiters. The identification of capsules is more difficult, but it follows similar principles and the counterfeiters often cut corners by leaving out one or more of the ingredients found in the legitimate encapsulated drugs.

Counterfeit drugs are a threat to the legitimate manufacturers whose production costs are necessarily high. The continued vigilance of the FDA protects both the producer and the consumer.

Q—What is the cause of polynueritis? Can it be cured?

A—Polynueritis or Landry's paralysis is a disease that involves several nerves and is characterized by weakness, loss of knee jerks or other reflexes and impairment of the sense of touch, heat and cold. The acute form is often rapidly fatal. Other forms of polynueritis are associated with diphtheria, leprosy, alcoholism, diabetes, arsenic poisoning and lead poisoning. There is also a chronic progressive form which, like Landry's paralysis, is of unknown origin. When the cause is determined, appropriate treatment can be given. But in those forms where the cause is unknown, no satisfactory treatment has been found.

Pope Presents Tiara To U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Pope Paul VI has thanked Americans for 20 years of generosity to the poor by sending them the three-tiered ceremonial tiara he donated to the world's poor last month.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, displayed the jewel-studded, gold and silver domed crown at a gathering of Roman Catholic clergy.

He said the pontiff entrusted him with the crown Nov. 18. "He wanted to express his gratitude for the goodness of all the people of America," the cardinal said.

U.S. Catholic relief services have distributed $1.3 billion in food, clothing and medicine in the last 20 years, a spokesman for the cardinal said.

The crown will be displayed soon at St. Patrick's Cathedral here. Later it will be shown at the Vatican Pavilion at the World's Fair and then sent on a nationwide tour. It is to be placed permanently in the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington, D.C.

Views Differ On New Mass

By The Associated Press
"I never knew until today the meaning of prayers I've been using ever since I was a little girl," said a St. Paul, Minn., woman after witnessing the use of English in a Roman Catholic Mass.

A middle-aged San Francisco woman, after going through the same experience, commented wryly: "This new Mass is like doing Shakespeare in modern English."

These were typical of the differing viewpoints expressed by some of the nation's 45 million Roman Catholics after attending Masses Sunday in which English was used for the first time instead of Latin in about half the service.

Some Prefer Latin

A cross-country spot check brought mostly favorable reaction.

Most of the English is prescribed for use in the people's responses to the chanting of the priests in the 17,500 parish churches spanning America.

The reforms were authorized by the Vatican's Ecumenical Council last Dec. 4.

"It's a terrific social act," said the Rev. Luke O'Connell of St. Anthony's Shrine, Boston.

"The people are now able to see what was hidden before."

The St. Paul woman, Helen Conrad, found the new Mass "very meaningful."

The San Francisco woman, who declined to give her name, preferred the full Latin usage, saying, "I'm a converted Catholic and we feel strongly about the old things."

Daydreaming Curbed

The changes—including in many churches the optional practice of having the priest face his congregation instead of having his back to them—marked in large measure the end of an era that began 400 years ago. It was then that the Council of Trent established basic norms for the Latin Mass that became outdated Sunday.

"With the introduction of the vernacular," said the Rev. Ralph Gorman, editor of the Catholic Magazine, the Sign, "the people can participate intelligently...instead of murmuring a mumbo-jumbo of Latin, as incomprehensible to them as Hindustani."

A New York City parishioner speculated it will "cut down on daydreaming." Mary Gibbons, who attends St. Catherine of Siena church, added somewhat sternly, "It's going to force Catholics to do what they have been supposed to do all along—follow and participate in the Mass."

Nip That Nosy Nut Next Door

Dear Ann Landers: Last week the woman next door told me (literally over the back fence) she was sure the couple next door is not married. She said, "I happen to know his first wife would not give him a divorce."

The couple under discussion has young children. They are pleasant and they mind their own business. When the gossip asked if I thought she should demand to see their marriage license "to put an end to all the talk," I told her this was not a police state and to forget it. She shot back, "I can show you MY marriage license. Can you show me yours?"

I said "I don't know where my marriage license is and even if I did I'd be darned if I'd show it to anyone unless it was demanded by a court."

The woman then hinted that my husband and I weren't married and maybe I'd better find the license to clear my name. She claims people who have nothing to hide don't resent being asked for proof. Express yourself on this please.—BURNING

Dear Burning: In America a person is innocent until proven guilty. If anyone asked ME to produce my marriage license (and I know precisely where it is) I'd tell them to go take a long walk on a short dock.

Dear Ann Landers: What is wrong with a wife who will not recognize apple pie in a cafeteria?

Myrtle is 58, a school teacher and intelligent. Last night we were having dinner out. Myrtle pointed to a slice of apple pie and asked, "What kind is that?" The young man replied, "That's apple, Lady." Myrtle answered, "Oh, I thought it was peach." The young man looked at her and said, "I thought everybody knew what apple pie looked like."

Myrtle gave him an icy stare and replied, "Thank you, I'll take cherry." All the while she was holding up the line. I'd like your opinion.—L. L.

Gift Honors Tech Librarian

HOUGHTON — "The Madeleine Gibson Collection of Modern European Fiction," named in honor of Madeleine Gibson, a member of Michigan Tech's library staff for 35 years, has been presented to the Tech library by an anonymous group of donors.

Approximately 72 English translations of contemporary European works are included, according to Michael V. Krenitsky, library director.

A native of the Copper Country and a graduate of Calumet High School, Madeleine Gibson served the Tech library for over a third of the century until her retirement earlier this year.

Joining the staff as an assistant librarian in 1929, she was named head librarian in 1937, a post she held until 1961, when she became assistant director of the library.

Miss Gibson received her bachelor's degree at Wellesley College and took graduate work at the University of Wisconsin. She also studied at the Sorbonne in Paris. Before coming to Tech, Miss Gibson taught at Lake Linden High School.

Volumes in the collection show a wide representation of European authors, including German, French, Italian, Greek and Russian writers. Such authors as Gary, Aldanov, Moravia and Levi are included.

Calumet & Hecla Promotes Stott

H. D. Stott, director of employe and community relations for Calumet Division of Calumet & Hecla, Inc., has been transferred to the Chicago office of C&H to head its employe relations department.

He has been a state leader in the study of workmen's compensation laws and is to be a keynoter in the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce's state conference on the subject in Lansing in January.

Stott told a recent meeting of wood producers at Cooks that workmen's compensation is a subject to which too few businessmen have paid attention. He believes that it can best be handled by the states, where it was started (in Wisconsin) although there has been a push in recent years to have the Federal Government take over.

"Much of the frustration in the area of workmen's compensation comes from a lack of knowledge of existing laws, of peculiar interpretations that are given because of the looseness in which laws are written and coupled with this are inadequate benefits or programs of rehabilitation," said Stott.

The Democrats will control the Michigan Legislature in January and one of their objectives is change in the state's workmen's compensation program. They will press for increased benefits and a bigger staff of referees and investigators aimed at clearing up a backlog of compensation cases. Within certain limitations Governor Romney is expected to back these efforts.

Stott, speaking for industry, has called the present benefits inadequate and too long unchanged. He has been critical of the tendency to pension off injured workers with compensation checks rather than to rehabilitate them for new usefulness.

Business And Program For Rapid River PTA

RAPID RIVER—Rapid River P. T. A. was highly entertained Monday evening by the school's Girls Glee Club directed by Mrs. Robert Anderson. The girls, impressive in their new blue and white uniforms delighted the audience with their selections of "America" from Broadway's "West Side Story," and "The Big Brown Bear" by Macca Zuchas.

Mrs. Charles Bowen, P. T. A. president, conducted the evening's business meeting. Mrs. Waldon Johnson reported that 89 parents were enrolled in P. T. A. membership. Mrs. Thomas Safford, project chairman, proposed that the Rapid River P. T. A. sponsor a talent show to encourage talent among the school's children. Prizes will be awarded to winners in various categories. The proposed date for the show will be in the latter part of January and it will be held in the Rapid River High School gymnasium. The project committee will work out the show's details. The P. T. A. voted to sponsor the affair.

Mrs. Bowen read the aims of the Parent Teacher Association reminding the membership of the association's purpose. Everyone was urged to vote "yes," on the school bond issue, Dec. 7, for better schools. Mrs. Douglas Wescott reminded parents of the elementary school's projector project.

The evening's program was arranged by chairman, Mrs. Stanley Dominick. Ray Chase, Federal Forest Ranger of Rapid River District, presented a talk on "Recreation in Our National Forests." Chase pointed out the recreation opportunities offered in the Rapid River area.

"Recreation is growing again," he said, citing improvements that have been made at the Haymeadow camp grounds and the new camping site at Pole Lake. The Pole Lake area will have a picnic area and a boat launching. The nature trails in the Ogontz and Mormon Creek area have proved popular with the tourists, said Chase. The nature trails are highlighted by trails used by a pioneer stagecoach run with remains still standing of a half-way station.

A movie was shown by Chase of the Central States' recreation offerings. The movie showed man's appreciation for the out-of-doors.

The room count was again won by Mrs. Carl Beyne's third grade. Fourth grade mothers served lunch with hostesses, Mrs. Robert Bezi, Mrs. Royce Gustafson, Mrs. Herbert Lundberg, Mrs. Cy Hebert and Mrs. Barbara Norlander.

Catholic School Will Have Board

NEW LOTHROP (AP) — Parents of pupils in St. Michael's Catholic School here will vote soon for what is believed to be the second elected Catholic school board in the nation.

The Rev. Fr. Olin J. Murdick, diocesan school superintendent, said six of the nine board members will be chosen from a list of 12 names submitted by the St. Michael's Home and School Association and by parish officials.

Bishop Stephen S. Woznicki of the Saginaw diocese said an elected parish school board "is in keeping with our philosophy of parish administration."

The Catholic School and Welfare Service News Bureau termed it the second such elected board in the United States.

NEGAUNEE — Preliminary estimates place total expenditures for the 1965 Centennial celebration here at $24,500, according to general chairman Thomas F. Pellow. Over $11,000 has already been pledged. Tentative plans call for the program to begin on July 2 and continue through Saturday, July 11.

IRONWOOD — The Twin City Hospital, one of the city's premier landmarks, has been turned into a ski lodge with accommodations for 43 persons by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Klahn of Griffith, Ind. The building was purchased in October. Hospital operations had stopped four years ago.

MENOMINEE — Quick work by Mrs. Shirley Knutson, nurse in charge of the pediatric ward at St. Joseph-Lloyd Hospital, probably saved the life of three-year-old Victoria Godfrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Godfrey of Baltimore, Md. Mrs. Knutson applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation when Victoria, who had been hospitalized with an acute bronchial infection, stopped breathing. Doctors performed an emergency tracheotomy to relieve the condition.

ST. IGNACE — A proposal for making a single intermediate school district of the tri-county area will be presented to Mackinac County voters Dec. 15. The Mackinac County Board of Education elected to put the proposal on the ballot after a recommendation from the Dept. of Public Instruction pointed out that law calls for all intermediate districts with less than 5,000 pupils take steps to join another district before July 1, 1965. Mackinac County would join with Chippewa and Luce Counties in the Eastern Upper Peninsula Intermediate School District.

IRON MOUNTAIN — What may be the largest black bear to be shot in the Upper Peninsula this year was killed by Frederick D. Kuhl of Flushing, Mich., while hunting north of Ralph in Dickinson County. The bear which measured 9½ feet in length, weighed 460 pounds. The state record for a black bear was a 555-pound beast shot in 1955 near Newberry by an archer, Dean Loveless of Detroit.

MARQUETTE — R. Ralph Smith, Marquette executive of the Hiawathaland (Upper Peninsula) Council, Boy Scouts of America, has resigned effective Jan. 1, to become executive for Abraham Lincoln Council with headquarters in Springfield, Ill.

IRON RIVER — Hanna Mining Co. has ended production through its Hiawatha No. 1 shaft, one of the oldest and deepest underground mining operations on the Menominee range. Opened in 1893, the shaft reached a depth of more than 2,150 feet and at one time employed more than 300 men. Iron ore shipments from the Hiawatha No. 1 shaft topped 700,000 tons this year.

SAULT STE. MARIE — The task of damming the waters of Lake Superior so winter work on the floor of the new Poe Lock can be done under dry conditions has been started by McNamara Construction Co. Work on the Poe Lock project must be completed and the dam removed in time for the start of the 1965 navigational season. The 1964 season ended Nov. 20.

MENOMINEE — A Menominee inventor has designed a disposable charcoal grill and hopes to raise capital to manufacture the product in Menominee. Robert Anderson, 28, a former Menominee high school industrial arts instructor, says his product is "easy to store and carry."

Mrs. John Armstrong and Mrs. Albert Mainville returned from Rochester, Minn., where Mrs. Armstrong went through the Mayo Clinic.

Gayla Harkness spent the past week in Lakefield visiting with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Harkness.

Ellen Donahue of Wayne visited with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Harkness in Lakefield.

Lansing Center Pays Dividends

LANSING (AP)—The nation's taxpayers spent $2,716 at a training center in Lansing to prepare two men for jobs, and stand to save about $7,000 a year as a result, the center's director says.

The $7,000 is what the two men would have been drawing in welfare payments if they hadn't attended the center, said John Gaffney.

The men were among 150 persons who ended up at the center because they were unemployable. Some could not read or write.

The two cited by Gaffney had been well-educated. But they were Cuban refugees who could not read or write English. One had been a pharmacist, the other a radio-television technician.

Progress Is Rapid

After five months at the center, Gaffney said, they read, wrote and spoke English, and both are earning more than $100 weekly in new jobs.

Officials of the center describe it as one of the nation's first antipoverty projects. Funds come from the Department of Labor and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The Michigan Catholic Conference sponsors the center.

Few of the students or teachers are Catholic, though.

"About half of the students progressed so rapidly they have already been placed in jobs or are taking vocational training," said Francis J. Coomes, executive director of the conference.

"The remaining students are attending basic education classes and will go into vocational training as soon as they complete this phase of the program," he said.

Among those who progressed rapidly from the basic phase, nine women have completed a four-week nurse's aide training course at Lansing's Sparrow Hospital. The hospital hired two of them.

Eighteen men are taking a 20-week auto mechanic course at a Lansing garage. Two auto dealers each have agreed to hire four men when they complete the course.

For the students still in basic education, this phase has been extended from the planned 30 weeks to a total of 52 weeks.

"Most of the students still in the basic education phase were nonreaders or had very limited reading skills when they entered the training center," Gaffney said.

Gaffney said students placed in jobs included three men and a woman who had been unable to read or write when they began training.

One of the men is working as a roofer at $3.25 an hour and another is working as a welder at $2.51 an hour. Both men, in their early 30s, previously were on welfare.

Gaffney sees promise that the center eventually will save taxpayers "hundreds of thousands of dollars."

"By developing skilled and creative people," he said, "we hope to break the welfare 'chain' which tends to perpetuate itself from generation to generation."

Lansing Cabinet Cut To 6 Men, Kelly Reports

LANSING (AP) — The membership of the State Administrative Board will drop from eight to six when Michigan's new constitution is fully implemented, Atty. Gen. Frank Kelly said Tuesday.

Kelly told Gov. George Romney and members of the board that in the opinion of his department the state's new legislative auditor and highway commissioner would not be eligible to serve.

The administrative board, a gubernatorial cabinet of sorts, now includes the governor, the lieutenant governor, the secretary of state, the state treasurer, the attorney general, the state superintendent of public instruction, the auditor general and the highway commissioner.

The board, Kelly said, was established by 1921 state law, and its membership could be broadened by the legislature.

Kelly, who did not go into great detail on the reasons for removing the two state officers from the board, said earlier he would give his reasons more

College Athlete Directs VISTA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Glenn W. Ferguson, 35, a one-time major league pitching prospect who has worked for the Peace Corps for the past three years, will now turn his experience to the domestic version of the corps—VISTA.

As director of VISTA — which stands for Volunteers in Service to America — Ferguson will be doing much the same work as he did when the Peace Corps was established in 1961.

He will be responsible for recruiting, selecting, training and directing an estimated 3,500 volunteers to work in the nation's poverty-stricken areas as part of President Johnson's anti-poverty program.

Elbow Goes Bad

Since 1963 Ferguson has been associate director of the Peace Corps in charge of volunteers. He previously served overseas helping set up Peace Corps programs.

After his freshman year at Cornell University, Ferguson, who had pitched a no-hitter in high school, was offered a job with the Orlando, Fla., baseball team, then a farm club of the Washington Senators.

But while pitching for Cornell on a cold day he developed a bad elbow that ended his hurling career.

"It was probably best," Ferguson says, "because there were other things more important to do."

Ferguson was active in other sports, too. He was a 10-second man in the 100-yard dash and won his letter in baseball, football and track at Cornell.

Reared in Capital

Squash now is his favorite personal participation sport but he also is a frequent player in touch football games at Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver's Maryland home.

Less active hobbies that hold his interest away from the office include coin collecting and bird watching.

Ferguson was born in Syracuse, N.Y., but his family moved to the Washington suburban area when he was a child. He has been married 15 years and has three children, Bruce, 10; Sherry, 8; and Scott, 6. His wife, the former Patricia Read, is another Washington area native — she was reared in suburban Falls Church, Va.

He saw military service in the Korean War as an Air Force first lieutenant assigned to psychological warfare in the Philippines, Japan and Korea.

Before joining the Peace Corps staff in 1961 he held a variety of posts in education and as a management consultant.

fully in writing if the board members wanted them.

The new auditor general will be appointed by the legislature, and as such will not be a member of the executive branch of government, said Deputy Atty. Gen. Leon Cohan.

The constitution also provides that "he shall be assigned no duties other than those specified in this section." Membership on the board is not specified.

Kelly said later the Michigan Supreme Court has held that although members of the board are listed by titles, the titles designate specific individuals in state government.

Treasurer Eligible

His interpretation of the constitution and the 1964 law implementing the highway commission is that no individual takes over the job of highway commissioner as it now stands.

The constitution provides for a four-member commission which can designate a full-time administrative head of the department.

The office of highway commissioner will be abolished when present Commissioner Mackie becomes a U.S. Representative Jan. 4.

The state treasurer, although no longer elected still heads a principal state department under the constitution, Kelly said, meeting the legal requirement that ad board members be department heads.

The superintendent of public instruction—to be appointed instead of elected as in the past—also continues as a member, he added.

The State Constitution and the address to the people when the proposed constitution was first promulgated "make it clear that the superintendent is to remain the administrative head of a department," Kelly said.

Seaway Cargo Traffic Doubled

OTTAWA (AP)—Cargo traffic on the St. Lawrence Seaway so far this year has almost doubled that of the opening season in 1959, the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority reported.

Up to Monday night the seaway had handled 38.5 million tons of cargo movement compared with 20 million in the full season of 1959. The figure was 29 per cent above the April-November period of last year.

In November alone, traffic was 4.8 million cargo tons, up 15 per cent from last year's November total.

The seaway still has a few days of operation left before winter shuts off ocean shipping.

Tonnage through the Welland Canal this season stands at 49.6 million tons, up 26 per cent from the comparable period of 1963. Welland operations will continue until Dec. 15.

So far there have been 6,655 vessel transits of the Montreal-Lake Ontario section, up 600 from last year. Welland transits total 8,065 up 816.

Miss Robinson Retires Dec. 31

LANSING (AP)—Miss Sarah Robinson, after 14 years at the job, says she will retire from the four-member State Civil Service Commission when her term expires Dec. 31.

Miss Robinson, a Democrat, was appointed to the bipartisan commission by then Gov. G. Mennen Williams in 1950. She was the first woman named to the commission since it acquired constitutional status in 1940.

In May, Gov. George Romney presented her an "outstanding citizen citation" from the Michigan Capital Chapter of the American Society for Public Administration.

Missilemen Keep Hound Dogs Set

Since the V-2 rocket was introduced in World War II, man has been rapidly progressing in the development of powerful weapons systems.

Strategic Air Command has been assigned the role of keeping the peace through a powerful deterrent force. The "mixed force concept" of manned aircraft and missiles, enables SAC to maintain a swift, flexible and strong striking power.

Part of this "mixed force" is maintained at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base through the efforts of the 410th Airborne Missile Maintenance Squadron, the men who "fly" the missile on the ground.

When a B-52H embarks on a mission, it relies on the capability of the AGM-28B Hound Dog missile carried under the wing.

Although the Hound Dog is never released during training missions, they require constant maintenance. The way they are treated in 410th AMMS, "a baby couldn't ask for more" according to Maj. Frank McDonald, maintenance supervising officer.

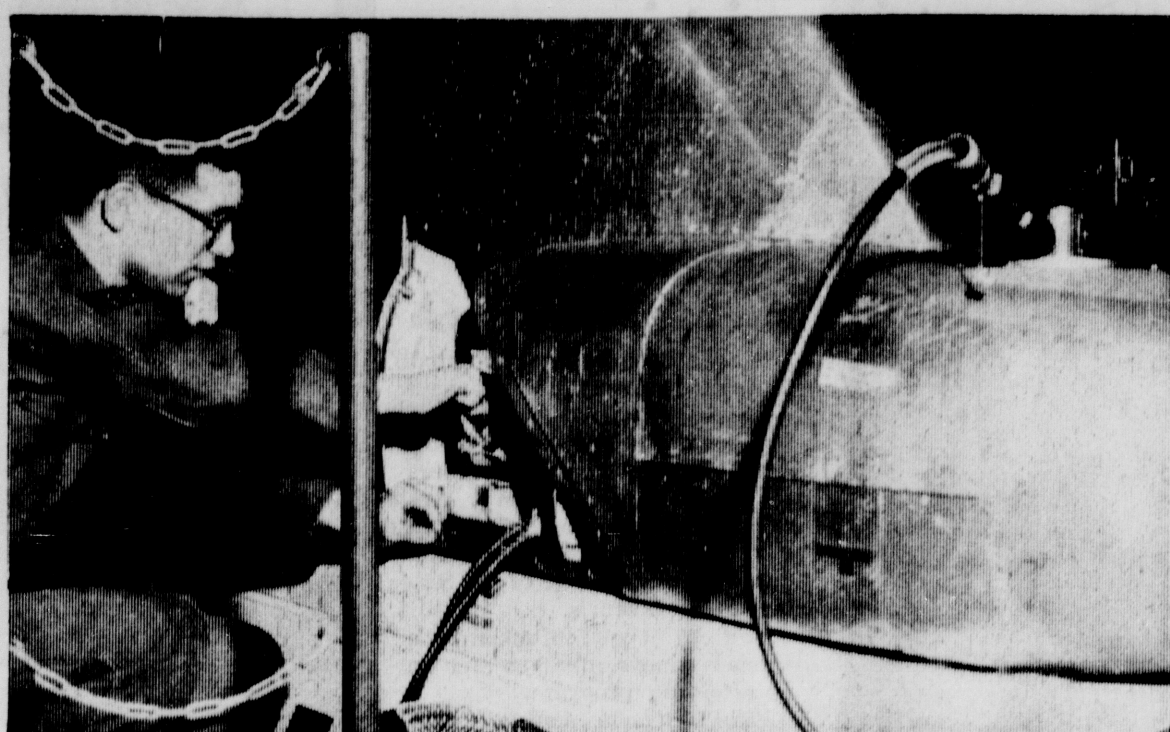

From the hanger to the time the missile is attached to the aircraft, skilled, specialized care is used by the missilemen, under the direction of M Sgt. Ward C. Smith, flight line maintenance supervisor.

The flight line men tow the missile from the hanger to the aircraft. When they reach their destination they must inspect, check-out and install the missile.

When the missile returns from "duty" the flight line men are waiting to return it to its "crib", the hanger.

Here the hangar maintenance men, directed by SM Sgt. Claude Neely receive and inspect it, verify, check-out, test and align it before Hound Dog is set aside to rest—awaiting another call.

At the moment there are 19 men on training for specialized work in the 410th AMMS.

WHEN A HOUND DOG missile is ready to go, all the systems must be in top operating condition. Tests are often made to assure that this condition will exist. A2C David Neuens makes a cable hook-up for the combined systems checkout, a specialized job in this unit, the 410th Airborne Missile Maintenance Squadron, at K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base. (USAF Photo)

Banner Potato Harvest Ruined

GREENVILLE (AP)—A predicted banner potato harvest year reportedly has turned sour for some Montcalm County growers with estimates of losses totaling up to $500,000.

Frost and soft rot damage were blamed.

Area growers reported individual losses ranging from a low of six per cent of their crop to 75 per cent.

Phil Costa and Joe Harrington, spokesmen for the Chief Wabasis Potato Cooperative at McBride, said only about one-third of all potatoes were harvested prior to heavy frosts in early October. Of those not harvested, they estimated up to 75 per cent may have been ruined.

Growers in this area said that potatoes in other sections of Michigan and in other states also suffered similar damage.

The nation's fall potato production was down about 20,525,000 hundredweight from the 1963 figure of 197,341,000 hundredweight, Costa said, while per capita consumption was increasing.

One bright note, he explained, was better prices to growers.

Some growers see higher prices after Jan. 1 in anticipation of a substantial national short crop. But one grower said not all producers will be able to hold their harvest in storage until then and must sell now to salvage what they can of their crop.

FIRST REGULAR FLIGHT

First regular air passenger service across the Atlantic was established on May 20, 1939, when the Yankee Clipper took off from Port Washington, N.Y., bound for Europe.

Beauvoir, last home of President Jefferson Davis, near Biloxi, Miss., is the most noted shrine of the Confederacy.

School Districts Get State Aid Payments Early

LANSING (AP)—Christmas presents to the school districts, in the form of state aid payments, are going out early this year, reports the State Department of Public Instruction.

Lynn Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, said December aid payments totaling some $60 million, originally scheduled to be sent out just before the holidays, already have been mailed to county treasurers for distribution to the school districts.

Bartlett said the early payment was made to help hard-pressed school districts meet their commitments without additional borrowings before local property taxes are received.

School districts already have borrowed in excess of $67 million, Bartlett said.

Dropout School Trains 1,000

ROSEMEAD, Calif. (AP)—Students from 4 to 40 attend the unusual school founded by Mary and Lester Stewart.

One of the basic courses is learning how to read. They also get lots of advice, a good bit of philosophy and considerable personal attention.

The name of the school, housed in an 11-by-60-foot store building, is unusual, too. It's called "Dropouts Anonymous."

Dropouts Anonymous has processed nearly 1,000 persons. Some have gone on to barber or beauty colleges and some are being trained by Los Angeles County as landscape architects.

Educates Herself

Some aren't dropouts at all. They are children who need special help.

"We tell our students you should like your job better than eating," says Mrs. Stewart. "Because if you don't eat—if you diet—you probably won't get sick. But working at a job you don't like can make you desperately ill."

In 1939 Mrs. Stewart, now 43, left high school in her senior year. It was strictly a matter of money—the lack of it.

Since then she has undergone an intensive program of self-education. A housewife, she is the mother of three sons who have completed high school.

Although their own children had no trouble staying in school, she and her husband, a machinist, became interested in the children of friends who did have trouble. So two years ago they founded Dropouts Anonymous.

The Stewarts don't honor education for education's sake alone.

Reading Help Needed "Education is learning, not just getting a diploma," says Mrs. Stewart, adding: "And education doesn't mean a thing if you haven't got something in the noodle to back it up."

Approximately 60 per cent of her students needed help when they entered the tuition-free school.

Classes are held five nights a week from 7 to 10 p.m. Each Friday evening is what Mrs. Stewart calls "true confession night."

"We discuss our goals and ambitions," says Mrs. Stewart. "We toss in an idea and see what happens."

Three adults regularly help the Stewarts with the program, including actress Ruth Warwick. The others are Cal Edinger and Doris Patterson.

One day soon, the Stewarts hope colleges in the area will assign student teachers to the school.

Financial help comes from individuals and from women's clubs.

Appeals Court Judges Ready

LANSING (AP)—The nine judges of Michigan's new Court of Appeals will be ready to hear cases the second week of January, if there are any to be heard, says Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski.

Judges-elect of the appeals court met Tuesday night to discuss administrative questions, including a budget for their first six months of operation.

Specific details could not be disclosed until the court presented its plans to the Michigan Supreme Court later today, said Lesinski who informally has been designated chief judge of the court.

The judges, Lesinski said, discussed such questions as prospective facilities in Grand Rapids and Detroit. Headquarters are in Lansing.

"We can't release any details until we submit this to the justices of the supreme court," Lesinski said. "It's a matter of protocol."

The appeals court, served by nine judges elected from three districts, was established by the new Michigan Constitution. An anticipated overload of cases could result from a right of appeal granted by the Constitution in virtually all cases heard by lower Michigan courts. The new justices were elected in the Nov. 3 election.

Jagger Gives Up Novak TV Role

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Dean Jagger is taking an indefinite medical leave from MGM Studios and also is abandoning, temporarily, his role as the high school principal in the "Mister Novak" television series.

A spokesman said Tuesday that Jagger, 61, was advised to take a rest after he was bothered by a recurrent ulcer.

Pine Plantation On Lindenthal's Tree Farm Pruned

BY IRWIN TEN HAKEN
U. S. Soil Conservation Service

The first pine pruning operation in the Delta County area was under way with the sound of pruning saws heard this fall on the tree farm of Frank Lindenthal, a mile and a half from Escanaba on the Danforth Road.

It all started about 1946 when Lindenthal was bitten by the tree-planting bug. He had purchased this old farm and started tree planting that spring. Trees, jack pine and red pine, were hand planted and today there are between 75,000 and 80,000 trees planted there, all by hand.

A Tree Farm sign hangs at the entrance to the farm. It may seem strange to first plant the trees and then go after them with a saw, but this is part of a long range program to upgrade this plantation.

In 1954 Lindenthal became a cooperator of the Delta Soil Conservation District. A basic soil and water conservation plan was developed with him for his land. The plan was revised and brought up to date this summer because of an additional acreage purchase. In this plan are the cooperator's decisions as to the best use of the land and treatments for it. Pruning was scheduled for the fall of 1964.

Cost-sharing under a special Agricultural Conservation Program project, especially aimed at forestry practices, was requested by Lindenthal.

Under the program, technical assistance from the Michigan

Conservation Department and financial assistance from the U. S. Department of Agriculture was available. As a result of this request, Clarence Limpert, area forester; Wallace Gunderson, then assistant area forester; and Larry St. Ours, forestry aide, gave technical assistance in marking the crop trees and advising on the pruning process.

"This pruning is for future production of sawlogs, not for Christmas trees as some might think," said Limpert. "About 150 to 200 trees per acre, in this case red pine, were selected as crop trees. Spacing was 14 to 15 feet apart," he said. The pruning removes live or dead branches from trees to a height of about 9 feet to provide a good sawlog in trees now with a total of about 20 feet. The branches must be cut flush with the trunk to promote early covering of this spot.

Gunderson added that a specific figure on trees per acre cannot always be given because of differences in species, spacing, and age. All these must be considered in determining what is best for a particular plantation.

About 15 acres was covered this fall in the Lindenthal project. Limpert estimated a commercial thinning would be profitable in 5 or 6 years. The first thinning would aim at removing trees closely spaced or of poor quality to give growing room to high quality trees. "What we would be aiming for is a possible veneer log or 8 foot sawlog," Limpert said.

"I planted these trees without too much advice or assistance and I've made some mistakes, but at least the trees were planted," Lindenthal said. "Now I'm going to use advice to keep this thing going the right way," he said.

His soil and water conservation plan includes food plantings for wildlife and the maintenance of three fish ponds he has constructed. The third pond was constructed early this spring. Brush has been piled in many areas as cover for rabbits and grouse.

This sandy soil area, once a marginal farm, is now a green and growing tribute to a conservation-minded man. He can often be seen with his ever-present Daschund, Gus, strolling through his domain and reflecting on the good land use brought about by his own efforts.

Gasoline Sales Rules Sought

DETROIT (AP)—The National Congress of Petroleum Retailers has petitioned the Federal Trade Commission to establish specific rules covering gasoline marketing by the nation's top 20 oil companies.

The announcement was made Wednesday by vice president Cash Hawley. He also is executive secretary of the Retail Gasoline Dealers Association of Michigan.

The petition asks that the hearings be held in Detroit.

Hawley said the petition listed seven specific practices by the oil companies that the gas retailers claim subject gas station operators to "unfair price exactions" and "repressive marketing practices."

The retailers say 85 per cent of the gasoline consumed in the United States is manufactured by the 20 companies.

Hawley said the oil companies include:

Standard Oil of New Jersey; Socony Mobile Oil; Sun Oil Co.; Gulf Oil; Texaco; Standard Oil of California; Atlantic Refining; Union Oil of California; Pure Oil; Marathon Oil; Sunray DX; Standard Oil of Ohio; Richardson Oil Co.; Standard Oil of Indiana; Shell Oil; Phillips Oil; Cities Service; Continental Oil; Tidewater Oil and Sinclair Oil.

Northeast Gains From Forestry

America's growing appetite is in the form of chips.

The economic impact of the pulpwood industry in the Northeast stretches beyond the providing of jobs. For instance, pulpwood producers and dealers kept 6,530 trucks on the roads in 1961 hauling pulpwood to the mills.

River Role Fading

Trucks account for 57 per cent of the final delivery of the pulpwood to the mills; railroad cars, 30 per cent. About 13 per cent of the pulpwood volume is transported to the mills by river drive. Mechanization of pulpwood operations is proceeding at a fast pace with new kinds of loaders and haulers being invented daily.

Independent products in the Northeast account for more than half the regional pulpwood purchased by Northeast mills. About one-third of the pulpwood reaching the mills come from dealers who buy from pulpwood growers under dealer's agreements. Only 13 per cent of the pulpwood volume comes from pulpwood producing units owned by pulp companies.

The future outlook for the pulpwood industry in the Northeast appears bright. There is no foreseeable shortage of trees. A recent U. S. Forest Service report showed that the total growth of both softwoods and hardwoods is now substantially in excess of the cut.

Likewise, there is no apparent letup in the demand for pulpwood. The American public is consuming paper and paper products at the per capita rate of about 460 pounds annually and the figure is climbing each year.

'Waste' Now Utilized
Use of chips in pulp and paper making — a relatively new technique — enables wood-land owners to market portions of trees and logs formerly burned or discarded. For the country as a whole about 20 per cent of the pulpwood used

LANSING (AP)—Eight Northern Michigan legislators will meet in Petoskey Dec. 8-9, to discuss problems of their area, Sen. Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey, announced.

The meeting, Schweigert said, is "to discuss problems of Northern Michigan (so) a bipartisan legislative program can be developed for the total benefit of the people of the north."

Rep. Einar Erlandson, D-Escanaba, said the meeting was not intended to imply "that Southern Michigan legislators are unsympathetic with Northern Michigan problems."

Expected to attend, Schweigert said, are Reps. Russell Hellman, D-Dollar Bay; Dominic Jacobetti, D-Marquette; Clayton Morrison, R-Pickford; Representatives - elect James Constantini, D-Iron Mountain, and Joseph Swallow, R-Alpena, and Senator-elect Joseph Mack, D-Ironwood.

Sheriffs Given Training Course

EAST LANSING (AP) — A school for sheriffs, underway this week at State Police Headquarters, is proving so popular that its sponsors hope to set up regional training conferences throughout the state.

Robert C. Stites of Adrian, executive secretary of the Michigan Sheriffs Association, said association members also hope to persuade the legislature to make police training mandatory in Michigan.

Under the plan, a police academy run by all police agencies in the state would give new officers six weeks of training.

At the present conference, 71 sheriffs and deputies are studying topics ranging over duties and responsibilities of sheriffs, ethics of the profession, fingerprints, criminal investigation, reports, juvenile cases, liquor laws, arrest laws, traffic accidents and investigation and numerous others.

Alleged Killer Was Resident Of Gladstone

By DAVE ANDREWS

Ray Weddell Thorburn, alleged killer of William R. Loomis, an Indianapolis business man whose body was found Nov. 21 on the Garden Pinsula, went to school in Gladstone in 1936 and 1937, Delta County Prosecuting Attorney Nicholas P. Chapekis said today.

"Thorburn was in high school for two semesters, leaving before the second semester of his sophomore year had ended," Chapekis said.

Authorities believe the family moved from Gladstone in 1937 to a small community in Wisconsin.

The information concerning Thorburn's residence in Gladstone was uncovered Wednesday after Chapekis had received a tip from a Gladstone resident who had read a story in the Escanaba Daily Press.

Attended School

The informant also told Chapekis that Thorburn's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Weddell Thorburn, had lived in Gladstone and that he had worked for the Soo Line Railroad.

Indian Minister Asks British Aid On Weapons Ban

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India arrived today for a three-day visit to London, his first to the Western world.

Shastri is seeking British backing for a new Indian campaign for a total ban on atomic weapons to counter the Communist Chinese nuclear threat.

Indian sources indicated Shastri also plans to seek more British economic assistance.

Two East Berlin Guards Caught In Escape Attempt

BERLIN (AP) — Two East German border guards were caught by their Communist comrades early today as they tried to escape over the Berlin wall, West Berlin police reported.

Two guards discovered the pair hiding near the border fortifications in the north of the city. Apparently they were waiting for a chance to climb over to West Berlin.

Chapekis said a check of school records for the period revealed that Thorburn was the son of Clifford and Nellie Thorburn. It is believed the family came to Gladstone from either Milwaukee, Wis., or Duluth, Minn., in 1936.

Thorburn, now 42, is being held by Federal Authorities in Springfield, Mo., on charges of aggravated kidnapping in connection with the slaying. He was scheduled to be arraigned in Federal District Court in either Springfield or Kansas City, Mo., today.

The school records provide local authorities with the first solid clue as to why the Upper Peninsula was chosen for the killing. Having lived in Gladstone, Thorburn could have been familiar with the murder scene, police believe.

No Property

Previously, Thorburn had told Missouri police that he had asked Loomis to come with him to the Gladstone area, where he owned property, to complete a deal for a 1960 white Jaguar Loomis had advertised for sale in a Chicago newspaper.

A check of Delta County Tax Dept. records showed no such property.

Chapekis, who conferred yesterday with Det. Sgt. Walter Barkell of Marquette and Sgt. Bernard Grace of Manistique, State Police investigating officers, said Thorburn and his companion, Phillip A. Battaglio Jr., 23, of Chicago, had stopped for gasoline at stations in Manistique, Escanaba, Bark River and Stephenson near the time the murder was committed.

Police believe that Thorburn and Battaglio spent at least one night in the area, but no evidence as to where has been discovered.

Trail Of Forgery

Loomis is believed to have been slain on Oct. 16 at the spot three miles northeast of Fayette State Park in Fairbanks Township where the body was discovered by a party of deer hunters.

Thorburn was arrested Thanksgiving day at a restaurant near Lebanon, Mo., and had in his possession oil company credit cards and other identification belonging to Loomis, police said.

Forgeries of the credit cards, besides turning up in the Upper Peninsula, also were found Oct. 17 in Rhineland, Wis., Oct. 18 in New Brighton and Wilmar, Minn., and Oct. 22 in Dallas and Denton, Tex.

Loomis' white Jaguar was abandoned in a Memphis, Tenn. garage on Nov. 3.

Thorburn was arrested while driving a 1965-model Ford sedan he had rented in Memphis, Tenn. The trail of credit cards and a statement from Robert Duane Lazzaro, 27, also of Chicago, led FBI agents to Battaglio.

Lazzaro, who is charged with abetting kidnapping, was arraigned Wednesday before U.S. Commissioners in Chicago and his hearing was continued.

Public Supports Asked For Radio Free Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has asked for public support for Radio Free Europe as the voice of truth and freedom in Eastern Europe where, he said, the "people — and some of their rulers — long for deeper, steadier and more natural relations with the West."

Johnson gave a White House luncheon Wednesday for officials of Radio Free Europe.

Voters Cut Old Share Of Income For School Tax

By JEAN WORTH

The Escanaba Area Board of Education was told at a meeting with local government, labor and industry representatives at the district's office Wednesday night that voters are refusing to pay their old share of income for schools.

Under discussion was request of the school district for a Yes vote Dec. 22 here on a 4.5 mill tax for 5 years. The 4 mills would be for school operating expenses, mostly teachers' pay, and the half mill would be to clean up a $125,000 deficit at the rate of $25,000 a year.

Discussion of the issue after a presentation of the problem by Luther Barrett, superintendent of schools, indicated that an election victory on Dec. 22 appears unlikely unless there is a change in public opinion in the next two weeks.

A defeat, Barrett said, would probably lead him to recommend to the board an immediate call for a third election on the issue so that a final decision could be reached before the school district has to contract for teachers for the 1965-66 school year.

"Threat" Protested

Some public spokesmen suggested that the school board shouldn't tell the results of millage failure in school changes for fear the public would regard it as a "threat," other spokesmen asked how the public would be able to assess the result of a "No" vote if it was not informed on the consequences?

"It is pretty much a foregone conclusion," said Barrett "that we will have to have half days of school next year if the millage fails, starting with Grades 5-4-3-2 and then 6th, etc."

"The harm would be less than to put junior and senior high schools on half days. I'd hate to see hundreds of junior and senior students on the streets for a half day. Elementary school children will more likely be at home."

"And besides it's hard to put on any adequate high school program in half-day sessions."

More Next Year

"Even the prospect of half-days causes our teachers' morale to plummet. If we have to take this drastic step it would take years to overcome it, after we started to build back."

Barrett said that the 4.5 mills is needed and that it will not replace the 3.8 mills of tax for operation which expires in 1965. "We've got to go back to the people for a renewal of that, too," he said "and we have said nothing about school buildings. We have only one empty classroom in the whole system and that is at Cornell."

"People say that the new high school is too big. Its rated capacity is 1,500 students but its rated optimum (best use) capacity is 1,250 students and we have 1,242 students in it now."

Barrett said budgeting for 1964-65 called for $1,637,000 for school operation, with income $220,000 short of this figure. Cuts in spending were made in the amount of $95,000 which cut the deficit to $125,000. Next year's budget shapes at $1,637,000 which would be $198,000 over income, and when the $125,000 is added, a total deficit of $323,000 results. "So we are asking 4.5 mills for operation."

No Growth

The valuation of the school district is $50.4 million, up only $8,000 over 1963, to provide only about $80 extra in income, so the tax rate must be increased to get more income. While taxes have remained the same the student enrollment has gone up 107 over last year, mostly in high school. School costs are going up so just to hold the school program at its old level takes more money.

More of the money comes from state aid than is provided locally. Ten years ago most Michigan cities got 60 pct. of their school money from the state and provided 40 pct. themselves. Today the situation is reversed generally, but Escanaba Area District still gets 58 pct. of its school funds from the state.

The 4.5 mills in terms of state equalized value, (the basis used for levying taxes), said Barrett means a $5.15 assessment per $1,000 of tax valuation in Escanaba and about $5 in the townships.

U. P.'s Forests In 3 Categories Of Ownership

The impression is often held that Upper Peninsula forests are owned primarily by either large private companies or the state and federal governments. "Neither is true," says Michigan State University Extension Forester Roy Skog of Marquette, who recently reviewed forest land ownership in the U. P.

Approximately one-third of the U. P. forest land is in each category—large private, public and small private. Small private ownership includes those owners who have up to 5,000 acres of commercial forest land. More specifically, Skog says the large private ownership accounts for 28 per cent, the public ownership for 40 per cent and small private for 32 per cent. Public ownership is primarily in state and national forests.

Of the small woodland acreage in the Upper Peninsula business and professional people are the largest owners with 22 per cent and absentee owners are next with 20 per cent. The farmer and the housewife-widow each own 13 per cent and the retired people account for 11 per cent. The wage earner and logger own nine and six per cent respectively, and six per cent of the ownership is in other categories.

The Escanaba Daily Press has 95 per cent coverage in the City of Escanaba, 94 per cent in the City of Gladstone, 90 per cent in the City of Manistique and 83 per cent throughout Delta County. The Daily Press is a welcome visitor in 10,400 homes daily in a five-county Central Upper Peninsula area. Smart advertisers use the Escanaba Daily Press.

New Court Will Ask $304,114

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's new Appeals Court is asking the legislature for an additional $304,114 to get through its first six months of operation, Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski said Wednesday.

Lesinski, a judge-elect and chief judge-designate of the new court, said it will take $601,245 to finance setting up the court. The costs, needs and staff of the new court have been worked out in meetings of the nine judges and approved by justices of the Michigan Supreme Court.

Named clerk of the court was Ronald Dzierbicki, 30, of Detroit, an attorney who has been Lesinski's executive assistant for the past two years.

Each of the court's three districts will have deputy and assistant deputy clerks. Assistant deputy in the first district (Wayne County), is Otto Silver, Lesinski said, currently clerk in the court of Traffic Judge John Watts, who has been elected to the Appeals Court. A chief deputy has not been named.

Frank Warnemuende of Saginaw and Arthur Meyers of Flint have been named deputies in the second district (the 16 counties surrounding Wayne county), he said.

In the third district (the remaining 66 counties) George Beck of Clare, court reporter in the Clare District, has been named chief deputy. Rayfield Baxter has been named assistant deputy.

Hunters Leave Woods; Season Rated Success

ROCK — Gone with the hunter is the red, yellow and orange color from the woods. Hunting season seems to bring more excitement and activity than Christmas. Stores which always close at 5 p. m., remained open evenings before and at the start of hunting season.

The West Rock area reports fewer hunters and more deer taken out. The North Rock area seems to have been quite successful.

Mrs. Elmer Linjala filled her license the first day with an 8 point buck. Bob Shaw, who was visiting the Linjala family, shot a 4 pointer on the first day. Arnold Sayen bagged a 9 pointer, Clifford Carlson and Albert Sayen shot spike horns on the first day of the season while hunting at Herb's Red Top Hunting camp at McFarland. Others at Herb's camp who filled their licenses are Elmer Hennig of Chicago who downed an 8 pointer.

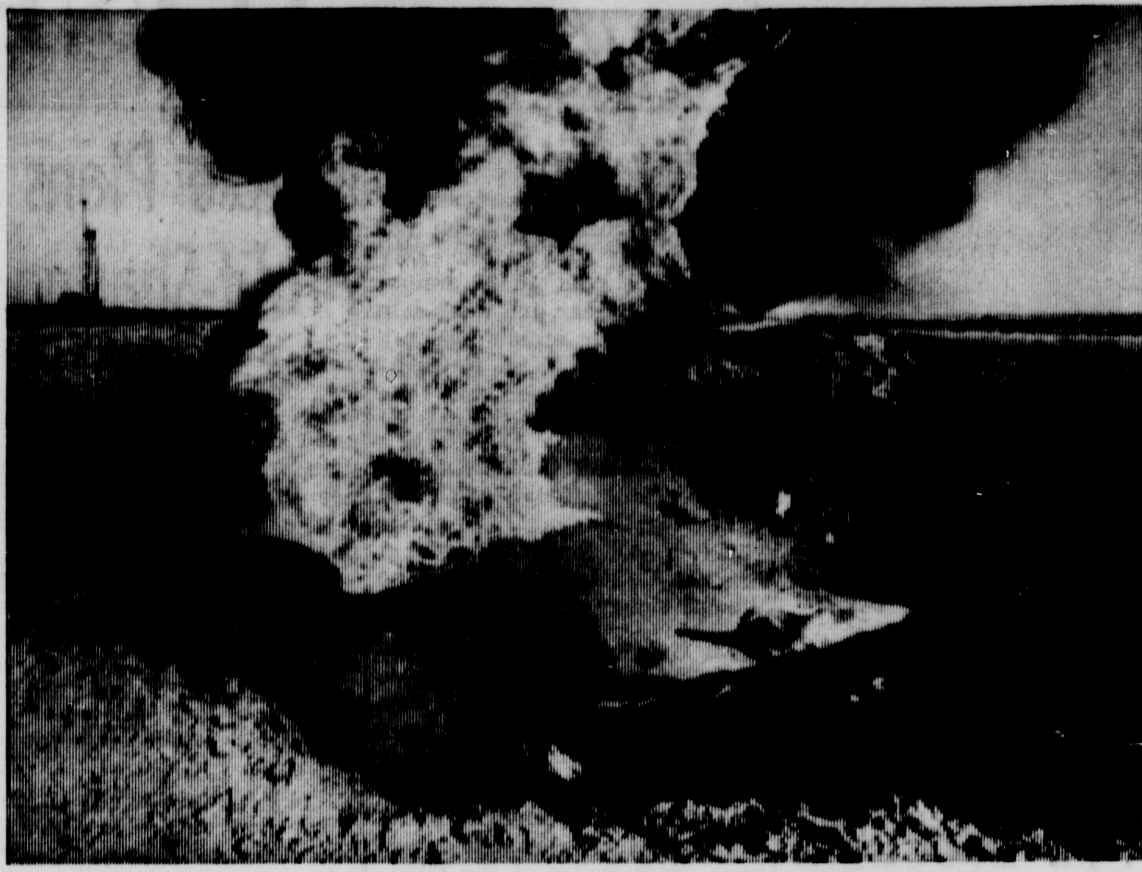

Victor Mankiewicz bagged the biggest rack, a 10 pointer. George Kulack filled his doe license. Waino Salmi, Elmer Linjala, Arvo Johnson and Eero Saarikko brought home spike horns.

Measure For Measure
Buying a dress or sports hat for your favorite male? The practical way to determine size is to look in an old hat. The size will be on the band or a tab. Or, measure his head at the broadest portion with a piece of string. Shape the resulting length into a circle. Its diameter is the proper head size.

Michigan Budget Spurt Indicated

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

LANSING (AP) — Optimistic economic indicators, the lure of a State Treasury surplus and rising population appear certain to bring on another record high Michigan budget for 1965-66.

The appropriated budget hit $1.23 billion for the current fiscal year and could pass $1.3 billion next year.

Appropriations for the current budget topped 1963-64 appropriations by $99.4 million as the state moved into the black from an $85 million deficit.

Pressures for a similar jump shape up this way:

1. Economics experts predict a continued strong economy, which would mean no serious slump in state revenues from corporation taxes, sales taxes and virtually every other source of funds. State Controller Glenn Allen Jr. said the experts tell him the rate of economic growth may drop from 6-7 per cent to 4-5 per cent, but this still would be considered strong.

2. The treasury surplus has grown to $37 million with prospects that it will continue to mount. State agencies, in submitting budget requests for 1965-66, in some cases apparently have their eyes on this money for program expansion. The Department of Mental Health, for example, seeks $16 million more in operating funds than the $90.5 million it got for this year.

Allen said the 128 state agencies "are making high demands generally but probably no higher than last year." Last time around the agencies won a 14 per cent increase in operating funds.

Gov. George Romney reportedly has not yet decided how much, if any, of the surplus should go into operating expenses. But it would seem likely to be most difficult for him to cut heavily into agency requests and at the same time retain most or all of the surplus. Thus, a budget increase in the $75-100 million range does not seem unlikely.

3. Michigan's rising population means that more money must be spent each year even to provide the same services as in the previous year. This alone means an increase of about $35 million annually, says Allen, noting that "you can cut costs, but not people."

More Pay Raises
Additionally, both Republican Romney and most of the new heavily Democratic legislature have called for broader programs in mental health, education, workmen's compensation and other cost areas.

Cattle Outlook Good For 1965

EAST LANSING (AP)—Prospects for most Michigan farm crops in 1965 appear improved, or at least the same as this year, says a Michigan State University agricultural economist.

John Ferris was optimistic especially about the cattle outlook. He said the demand for beef will be stronger next year, and there will be less competition from pork than this year.

Ferris expected milk production to remain at about the same level.

He predicted a drop in wheat and sugar beet acreage, with national acreage limitations going into effect for sugar beets in view of the record crop predicted for 1965.

Potatoes and apples remain in good demand, Ferris said. He said the demand for apples seems to be increasing on a level favorable to the higher supply.

Potato production this year has been down because of heavy frosts, but Ferris said an orderly movement of potatoes through the storage season is indicated.

Teachers Study Teen Drinking

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—A Macomb County schoolteachers group is trying to do something about teenage drinking.

The teachers will take an extensive course on alcohol from the University of Detroit, then pass on their new information to students and other teachers.

The project, sponsored by the Macomb Committee on Alcohol Education, follows public concern over youngsters' drinking and the reported discovery that 61 per cent of children from the 10th through 12th grades drink.

Dr. Margaret Clay, research psychologist for the State Board of Alcoholism, said this incidence of drinking by youngsters was disclosed in a survey.

Course Unique
Dr. Clay said the extent of drinking among the 61 per cent ranged from "only on holidays" to "often."

From two years of study Dr. Clay said it also was determined that students had little instruction about alcohol in schools and that the teachers themselves lacked knowledge of the subject.

The Macomb Committee said the study course arranged for the teachers will be unique in Michigan and perhaps in the country.

Ninety per cent of Macomb's high school students have "some experience" with drinking before they graduate, Dr. Clay said her studies showed.

Dr. Clay said some of the answers students gave to questionnaires in the study were revealing.

Hates The Taste
A 17-year-old high school senior said he drank "quite a bit" but nonetheless believed alcohol should be "completely abolished."

"Why (I drink) I cannot answer. I hate the taste of alcoholic beverages yet I am always trying to get some alcohol," he said.

A 15-year-old boy said his parents knew he drank but did not object "because I don't come home plastered."

Max Thompson, chairman of the Macomb Committee, said the purpose of the education program was not to frighten children over alcohol but to "improve attitudes and behaviors" in its use.

Soil Conservation Directors Now Being Nominated

Petitions are being circulated in Schoolcraft county for six potential directors to serve for a Soil Conservation district in preparation for a hearing Dec. 15 and possibility of a referendum on the proposal in January.

Members of the State Soil Conservation committee will conduct the hearing in Birthday Grange hall Dec. 15. The hearing is to verify local need for the district.

The six directors names will be placed on the ballot and the three highest will become directors. The men running are Arlen Kaufman, Phillip Koren, Charles Matchinski, Paul Larson, William Pawley and James Hoholik.

Retarded Child Meeting Jan. 19

The Schoolcraft County Association for Retarded Children has voted to continue as an organization if enough interested people attend the next meeting, scheduled Jan. 19, 1965. New officers will be elected and new projects discussed. The aim of the Association is to help all types of retardation. The group hopes to have those who already have someone in their family cared for in an institution work harder to promote this program.

August Mattson Post 71 of the American Legion has launched its 1965 membership drive, Roll Call—1965, with appointment of a special campaign committee, Post Commander Lyle E. Godfrey announced today.

Chairman of the committee is Louis Hillewaert, 1st Vice Commander. Other members are Fern H. Dahlgren, Post Adj., Gideon Sloan, Lawrence Young, Fred Breitman, Thure W. Dahlgren, Loyal Swensen, and Douglas Madden.

Commander Godfrey explained that the "Roll Call" theme of this year's drive was to remind all war veterans of their service to their country which makes them eligible to become Legionnaires.

The local post is joining some 16,500 American Legion organizations throughout the United States, various overseas

"We plan to have the bulk of our 1964 membership drive completed by Dec. 31st to permit us to devote as much time and effort as possible to our community service programs," Commander Godfrey said.

He pointed out that Post 71 here has a goal of 250 for 1965. GREAT LAKES—The Munising Mustangs are the surprise of the early Great Lakes Conference basketball race. With a new coach this season in Dave Ghiardi, the Mustangs have jumped into a quick lead in the GLC standings with a 2-0 record. Three teams sporting 1-0 marks entering this week-end's action are Ishpeming, Negaunee and Stephenson. The Mustangs host Ishpeming Friday night and invade Escanaba Saturday night.

HOCKEY—Idle since Nov. 21, the Green Bay Bobcats will return to United States Hockey League action Saturday night in their home opener against the Marquette Iron Rangers at Brown County Arena, adjacent to Packer Stadium. Green Bay is in second place in the USHL standings with a 2-1 record, trailing Rochester's 4-1 mark. Marquette is third with a 1-1 record.

NORTHERN—Pat Stump, Northern Michigan University guard, has been named to the Associated Press Little All-America second team. Rated by Coach Frosty Perzacca as the best two-way performer in NMU football history, Stump is a 5-11, 205 pound senior from Lansing.

SOO—Coach Jack Brighton's undefeated Soo Tech Hornets will play their first game of the season Saturday night against Central Michigan University. The Hornets have won seven straight starts against small college competition thus far this season.

SKIING—Mont Ripley Ski Hill at Michigan Tech opened for the winter season this week. Fred Lonsdorf, Tech ski coach and manager of the hill, reports that conditions have never been as good this early in the year, with a solid base of 10 inches and 22 inches of powder where the snow has not been packed.

BADGERS—The lone Upper Peninsula athlete on the University of Wisconsin freshman basketball squad this season is Jon Fryxell of Houghton. The 6 foot, 175 pound former Gremlin star was named to the All-Upper Peninsula Class C first team in both his junior and senior years. In those two seasons he tallied 889 points.

Howard Trade Is Killed By Houston Boss

HOUSTON (AP) — Outfielder Frank Howard of the Los Angeles Dodgers was as good as traded to Houston when the principal owner of the Texas club stepped in and killed the deal, the Associated Press learned today.

Houston General Manager Paul Richards and Dodger General Manager Buzzie Bavasi reached agreement on a trade that would have brought Howard to Houston for third baseman Bob Aspromonte and pitcher Ken Johnson. The AP was informed.

But the informant said Bob Smith, chairman of the board of directors of the Houston club, vetoed the trade because he didn't want to let Aspromonte go.

The minor leagues approved a pro-football-type draft of high school and college players at Wednesday's session of the winter baseball meetings. But trade rumors were still the principal conversation pieces.

It appeared there was still a fair chance the Los Angeles Angels would trade pitcher Bob Belinsky to the Philadelphia Phillies. But no one seemed to know which Philadelphia player or players might be involved.

The proposed draft of players with no professional experience was approved unanimously by the minor leagues and was to be considered today in separate meetings of the American and National leagues. It was expected to win approval.

Under the plan, there would be three drafts each year. The first two, in January and June, would involve college players and high school graduates not planning to attend college. The third would probably be held in August and would involve only American Legion and sandlot players.

Each major league club would be permitted to pick one player at each draft. Selections would be made in inverse order of the clubs' standings.

Should a player refuse to sign with the club that drafted him, he would become subject to selection again at a special draft session held prior to the next regular draft. He might then be picked by a club other than the one that drafted him originally.

One object of the draft is to put a brake on high bonuses. If adopted, the plan would become effective in January.

Aussie Runner Smashes Record

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Ron Clarke of Australia smashed the world record for three miles tonight, running the distance in 13 minutes, 7.6 seconds. The time was 2.4 seconds faster than old record set by Murray Halberg of New Zealand in 1961.

The Australian long-distance champion spread-eagled the field, which included Halberg. Clarke, who had to contend with a stiff wind, won by more than 100 yards from Halberg and Tony Cook of Australia.

Three Officials Will Work Games

Holy Name Coach To Try Unique Cage Experiment

By RAY CRANDALL
(Daily Press Sports Editor)

The most unique high school basketball experiment in the history of the sport in the Upper Peninsula will be conducted by Coach John Butrymowicz of Holy Name this season.

Most fans—and many coaches—are quick to criticize basketball officiating, but Butrymowicz is the first to come up with an idea that may help the referees.

Butrymowicz, who doubles as Holy Name athletic director in addition to his coaching duties, will have three officials (instead of the standard two) working four of his Crusader home games this season.

State Approves
The games involved are Dec. 18 against Munising, Jan. 8 against Kingsford, Jan. 19 against Manistique and Feb. 5 against Gladstone.

The idea has stirred up considerable interest among coaches, schoolmen and referees throughout the Upper Peninsula. It has the approval of Charles E. Forsythe, director of the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

Forsythe has requested a report of the Holy Name experiment and the Crusader coach has set up an "opinionnaire" to help coaches, referees and news media people to rate the three-referee system at the four games.

The officials who will handle the first of those four games are all veteran whistle tooters. Ray Ranguette and Thor Reque of Manistique and Norm Slough of Rapid River. They have had previous experience with the system when they worked as a three-man team in an independent cage tourney run by Butrymowicz at Rapid River a number of years ago.

Butrymowicz stated that Holy Name pays $15 apiece (plus mileage) for varsity officials and the third man will receive the same amount.

Butrymowicz lists the following reasons for trying the three-referee idea:

Tempo Is Faster
1—The tempo of the game has picked up considerably. I like that because I think the

Spartans Face Northern Quint

EAST LANSING — A small school team with large ambitions will help Michigan State open its 1964-65 basketball season at home tonight in Jenison Field House.

The invaders will be Northern Michigan, annually one of the strongest college division cage powers in the land.

Word from the Wildcats' home precincts has it that Coach Stan Albreck, one time star performer for State's Coach Fordy Anderson at Bradley and later a Spartan assistant, has a club which might match the best in recent Northern history.

That's pretty good. Four Albreck teams have gone on to NAIA championships and one time placed third.

Northern will have the advantage of a game under its belt. The Cats played Bradley at Peoria Tuesday.

Likely to start against State are forward Duane Soine, a 6-5 senior; Con Yagodsinski, a 6-5 sophomore; center Gene Summers, 6-4 junior, and guards Tim Bullock, a 5-11 senior, and Bill Koski, a 5-11 sophomore.

For perhaps the only time this season State's small club won't have to spot height. Probable starters for the Spartans are 6-4 sophomore Joe Johnson and 6-3 senior Marcus Sanders at the forwards, 6-4 junior Bill Curtis at center, 6-3 junior Stan Washington and 6-1 senior John Shick at the guards.

Men's Dartball Tournament Set

The Men's Tavern Dartball League first half tournament will open with first round games on Tuesday, Dec. 8, at 8 p. m.

The tournament will be concluded with the championship match Monday, Dec. 14, at Bay de Noc Tavern, starting at 8.

Colonial vs. Palm at Metropolitan, Arcadia vs. Lombardi's at Lombardi's, Metropolitan vs. Eddy's at Arcadia, Bay de Noc vs. White Birch at Colonial. Drawing first round byes were Wardsy's, Spar's, West Side and A's.

Monson Three-Time Winner

Football Coach Of Year Joins Illustrious Group

When George Gusick of Iron Mountain accepts the Gladstone Rotary Club's Coach of the Year trophy at the football recognition banquet Monday night, he will join some illustrious coaching company.

Gusick, 33, was named 1964 Upper Peninsula football coach of the year by the U. P. Sports-writers Association as its recent fall meeting. A native of Coleman, Wis., and a former Northern Michigan University football standout, Gusick guided his Mountaineer gridders to a record of six victories in eight starts this fall, including a startling 6-0 upset over Kingsford in the season finale. The 6-2 season came off a 0-8 record in 1963.

Upper Peninsula sports writers first began naming their choice of the region's top football coach following the 1950 season when they honored Harry Monson of Iron River, former Escanaba athlete.

Ken Radick, a former Green Bay Packer player and presently athletic director at Menominee High School, became the second U. P. Coach of the Year in 1951 as mentor of the Maroons.

Monson repeated in 1952 when his Redskins registered their second undefeated season in two years. He proved to be the most popular coach in the history of the trophy selections when he was named again in 1953, following a campaign in which Iron River won all seven starts.

From there on in, the trophy went to Roman Yatchak of Wakefield in 1954, Jim Pozza kids should show their stuff, run, etc. and in this way make basketball a more accepted spectator sport.

2—Judgment calls would naturally be reduced as there would be an official closer to all plays than previously.

3—Better control of situations that arise in a tight contest—especially the last few minutes when pressing defenses seem to be the rule. And a better view of the game action in strategic areas.

4—Better control of the game mechanics—that is, the starting and stopping of the clock, relaying information to officials at the scorer's table.

5—Better enforcement of the present rules of the game and checking conduct of coaches and personnel.

6—I believe that three men should be used in the state tournament finals. It is ridiculous to have only two men working on a gigantic floor at a fieldhouse, and two strangers at that, men who probably never worked together during the regular season.

"It is not the object of this system to call more fouls. In fact, I don't care if the third man ever blows his whistle," Butrymowicz states. "I'm sure with three-man coverage the players on the floor will put on a better brand of basketball," he adds.

Basis For Rating
Butrymowicz will have opinionnaires forms prepared for rating the experiment. Coaches, former coaches and referees will have an opportunity to rate the system on the following basis:

1. There was smoother administration of general rules.

2. The rotation system of the referees was satisfactory.

3. There was better coverage of strategic playing areas.

4. The players were not being benefited by the extra man.

5. Referees tended to call too many trivial infractions.

6. Pressure defenses were under better observation.

7. System did not tend to quiet spectator fans criticisms.

8. Fast-breaking offensive play covered much better.

9. System did not encourage better conduct of bench personnel.

10. Floor seemed to be overcrowded with this system.

The observers will be asked to rate each half separately and have a choice of five reactions to the above statements. They may check the following reactions on the form: I agree, I am inclined to agree, I cannot say, I am inclined to disagree and I disagree.

Butrymowicz stated that a full report of the information obtained from the opinionnaires will be made to the MHSAA and will be made available to the public through news media.

Cage Season Tickets Set
Adult season tickets for Escanaba High School's home basketball games are on sale at the school office and will be available at the ticket gate Saturday night, ticket manager Jack Magnuson announced today.

The Eskymos make their first home start of the season Saturday against Munising.

Avoid Letdown, AAU Objective

HOUSTON (AP) — The Amateur Athletic Union feels the United States shouldn't follow its old habit of letting down in international competition after the Olympic Games but should work even harder, an AAU spokesman says.

Already much of the business at the annual AAU meeting here has been directed toward that goal. For one thing, the AAU has agreed on a 1965 triangular track meet with Poland, West Germany and the United States.

Don Hull, AAU executive director, said following a meeting of the foreign-relations committee Wednesday that the plan is for 1965 to be "the largest and best ever for international competition the year after the Olympic Games."

The United States, he said, has a habit of letting down after the Games and then scrambling back the year before the next Olympics.

"This doesn't lend to keeping the United States on top," he added.

Hull said the AAU tentatively plans to match the men's and women's national champions and runners-up from Poland, West Germany and the United States in a July 10-11 meet in Los Angeles. It will be a tune-up for the dual meet between the United States and Russia in Moscow later that month.

Meanwhile, the squabble over control of open amateur athletics in the United States between the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the AAU was at a standstill today.

Each side agreed to meet Dec. 16 in Chicago, but only on its terms. Neither gave any sign of giving in to the other, so most officials saw little likelihood the meeting would be held.

Hull said there should be a congressional investigation of the "NCAA's attack and boycott of the AAU to see if there is a valid reason."

Crusaders Add Rudyard Team To Cage Slate

Rudyard, two-time Upper Peninsula Class B basketball champion, has been added to this season's Holy Name High School schedule.

John Butrymowicz, Holy Name athletic director and coach, announced today that Rudyard will play the Crusaders here on Saturday night, Feb. 6.

The Bulldogs, coached by Bill Howes, have won the U. P. Class B crown the past two seasons. They have captured their first two starts this year.

N F L Football News 'N Notes

WHEN GARY WOOD OPENED at quarterback for the Giants against the Redskins last week, it marked the first time in 54 games that veteran Y.A. Tittle had not been the starting NY signal-caller, except for two occasions on which Tittle was injured. Said New York Coach Al Sherman of Wood's performance: "I thought he did very well. He worked the ball club, and he didn't make a greater percentage of bad calls than any veteran. Ninety per cent of the plays he called were plays that I had hoped he would select."

IT IS VERY POSSIBLE that next Saturday, on national TV against the Chicago Bears, quarterback Bart Starr of the Green Bay Packers will break the National Football League record for most consecutive passes attempted without an interception. He has now thrown 186 times in a row without having one picked off, and need throw only 23 more times without interception to top the record of Milt Plum, who went 208 straight in a span covering part of the 1959 and 1960 seasons. Plum, now with the Detroit Lions, was then the quarterback of the Cleveland Browns. Starr opened this season with a string of 135 without interception and ran it to 144 before being intercepted in the second game. He was picked off again in the third game before starting his current string. And as of now, Starr's 186 and 144 are the second and third best marks in league history. Bart says his secret is confidence. "When I was with the Packers the first couple of years," Bart recalls, "I'd thrown an interception, it'd kill me. I'd worry all day about it, and this is bad. Now when I throw an interception, I feel I can throw three more. It still doesn't bother me."

RUDY BUKICH, who has stepped in as Chicago's starting quarterback and guided the Bears to three straight victories, tied a league record for consecutive pass completions when he hit seven straight at the start of the Thanksgiving Day victory over Detroit. These, added to six he had at the end of the previous game with San Francisco, gave him 13 in a row, a mark set by Fran Tarkenton of Minnesota against Los Angeles in 1961. The Bears as a team have now surpassed the National Football League record for total pass completions in a season. They now have 254 with two games to play. The former record was 253 by the Los Angeles Rams in 1950.

Michigan Coach Will Speak At Grid Banquet

GLADSTONE—Main speaker at the annual Rotary Club football recognition banquet Monday, Dec. 7, will be Jack (Jocko) Nelson, assistant football coach at the University of Michigan.

Honored at the banquet will be George Gusick of Iron Mountain, 1964 Upper Peninsula football coach of the year, in addition to the Gladstone Braves and coaching staff.

Nelson, end coach for the Rose Bowl-bound Wolverines, joined the Wolverine staff in 1959 after two years as an assistant at the University of Colorado.

Born in Hibbing, Minn., 37 years ago, Nelson graduated from high school there in 1945. He served during War II in the Seabees and attended college at Gustavus Adolphus in Minnesota where he earned letters in five sports — football, basketball, baseball, track and hockey. He was a center and line backer in football.

Following graduation in 1950, Nelson became coach at Grand Marais, Minn., and moved to Mora, Minn., where he coached for two years before moving to Utah State where he became end coach as well as baseball mentor. His ball club won the Skyline Conference baseball championship before he moved to Colorado where he also earned his M. A. degree in physical education before joining the Michigan staff.

University of Michigan Alumni are invited to attend the banquet and may make reservations through the University of Michigan Extension Service office, ST 6-6861.

Sports In Brief

NEW YORK (AP) — Ron Turcotte became the leading jockey at the current Aqueduct meeting by riding three winners Wednesday for a total of 29.

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Ranger right wing Bob Nevin, who scored a goal in Wednesday night's 3-3 National Hockey League tie against the Chicago Black Hawks, will be out of the Ranger line-up for a week to 10 days.

Nevin suffered a slight separation of the right shoulder banging into the boards in the second period of the game. He was X-rayed at St. Clare's Hospital.

Pettit's Back, Lakers Know It

By The Associated Press

Bob Pettit's back in the St. Louis Hawks' line-up and don't the Los Angeles Lakers know it. Pettit, who has scored more points than any man in National Basketball Association history, missed five games with a stomach muscle tear but was back for the Hawks' game Wednesday night against Western Division-leading Los Angeles.

His 23 points paced a 105-102 victory which shaved the Lakers' margin to 2 1/2 games over the Hawks. Elsewhere, Boston ripped New York 116-91, Detroit downed Cincinnati 125-115 and Baltimore whipped San Francisco 120-114.

Pettit, playing his first game in 10 days, sank a basket and two foul shots in the last two minutes as the Hawks held off the Lakers. Elgin Baylor's 35 points led the losers and Richie Guerin hit 22 for St. Louis.

MANISTIQUE Merchants, City Review Business District Planning

Thirty-five persons attended a meeting in city hall Tuesday night to discuss plans for refurbishment of the Manistique Business Community. Merchants, members of the City Planning Commission and City Council met jointly with Max Putters, community planning consultant and Bill Wilson of Aeration-Action U. P.

Wilson pointed out the Manistique business district has "the right fabric" and actually is in fairly good shape, but should give consideration to possibilities of a unified approach through a colonial, logging town, or other theme. Once this has been established, firms can plan improvements so they are part of the overall appearance, with room for individual preferences and variations.

Putters reviewed needs of the area, the community planning studies made and noted more business can be obtained in the shopping area served. Generally, improvement of retail and industrial facilities improves the economy and this then makes possible improved residential areas, through great job strength and return.

Carl Graves, C-C secretary and Fred Hahne, president of the Top O' Lake Chamber of Commerce and others cited the need for more parking facilities.

Putters said a study showed the area needs 213 more cars than it now has, using a ratio of two square feet of parking space for every square foot of merchandising floor space. Generally a 3 to 1 ratio is sought.

The community is fortunate in that there is ample area in all four blocks of the downtown district and on the west side for improved parking facilities. Merchants and C-C officials indicated if better parking and lighting are provided by the city, they will embark on store-front improvements. Earlier a meeting was held with representatives of firms providing store front and lighting services.

Urban Renewal

Sharing of cost, and approach of the project on a unified basis, will save on individual merchant cost and obtain much valuable notice for the area, Wilson noted.

Mayor Merwin White noted need for improved parking and reported studies are under way to provide modern, mercury vapor lighting. Something less than an urban renewal project, but of sufficient scope to make the district attractive apparently is sought, he observed.

An area in the 200 block of S. Cedar St., would probably qualify for an urban renewal grant, which would cover 3/4 of the cost of demolition, Max Putters of Vilcan-Leman Associates reported.

The community's one-quarter share of cost can be in cash or improvements and can be accumulated over a period of time to qualify for the federal aid. Considerable time is involved in securing final approval of an application, Putters said.

Need More

The retail division of the Chamber of Commerce has had two meetings on off-street parking needs, it was reported at the session. Thus far no meetings on store-front improvements.

Briefly Told

A women's volleyball meeting will be held in the old gym Thursday at 7:30 p. m. The session is for Lakeside and Hiawatha areas.

State Police ticketed Alfred C. Atkins, 522 N. Houghton, and Richard L. O'Neil, Wyandotte, speeding and Clarence K. Archambeau, Detroit, improper overtaking and passing.

Arthur Fountain Jr., received the forty of land offered by the Lions Club, Dr. E. J. Brannan, Dr. Robert Hawn, Clarence Vance, Elmer Flodin and Carl R. Graves were in charge.

St. Theresa Circle will hold a Christmas potluck dinner at the home of Mrs. Frank Gregurash, today at 6:30 p. m. Mrs. Victor Schuster will be the assisting hostess. There will be a gift exchange.

The VFW Auxiliary meets Monday, Dec. 7 at 8 p. m., in the VFW clubrooms. Hostesses will be Mesdames Ivor Willcock, chairman, Leonard Walters, Norman Saffer, Francis Holobak and Jack Gould Jr.

Michael Dissinger, sophomore at Michigan State University and his friends, Jerry Jones and John Kettinen, also sophomores and members of the Spartan varsity football squad have returned after visiting here with Michael's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Dissinger, and hunting.

ments, other than the clinic have been held.

Metered parking spaces, in areas obtained by the city through lease or other arrangements would aid, it was noted and also provide revenue for the project. A westside parking lot as well as area to serve the S. Cedar district are needed, it is reported.

Wilson has invited Manistique merchants to join him for a motor trip to Gaylord to see use of a Swiss-Alpine business theme there and to talk with merchants.

Otmer Schuster, chairman of the planning commission presided. It is hoped more merchants than those present Tuesday night will become interested in the program.

Shoplifters Big Problem; Given Little Sympathy

By CLINT DUNATHAN

The gentle art of shoplifting as practiced by children, kindly old lady amateurs and sharp professionals costs the merchandisers of America hundreds of millions of dollars annually. This loss or "shrinkage" adds to the price for goods paid by consumers.

Now is the time when the shoplifters of the amateur sort are at their impulsive worst, report Escanaba area merchants.

The professionals we always have with us, but the uncaught beginners branch into bigger operations during the holiday season and add their names to the court records.

Policy of Escanaba merchants is to make complaint on shoplifters, the police follow through with arrests, and the courts impose sentence upon conviction. The Escanaba Daily Press' policy is to publish such cases and their disposition.

Offenses Growing

Police Chief Harold Finman said the problem, particularly as it applied to juveniles, is a growing one in the community.

In 1961 there were 27 complaints for shoplifting to police of which 22 were juveniles; 1962 and 1963 showed 33 offenses with 25 by juveniles each year; and so far this year (11 months) there have been 53 shoplifting complaints — with 46 by juveniles.

"And we still have a month to go before the records for the year will be complete," the police chief added.

The juveniles represent a problem in law enforcement. If they are 16 or under they can only be referred to juvenile court. The records of the court are not public.

"When you catch them they stand there and laugh at you," said one merchant. "They say 'You can't do anything to me.'"

Not All Poor

These kids and their adult preceptors are causing the merchandisers astounding losses. Robert Dagenais, proprietor of the Piggly Wiggly Super Market, said that a recent survey revealed that the cost of shoplifters to the super markets was an estimated $300 million annually.

Pilferage is about the same as the total market, the survey revealed. Kleptomaniacs, adult amateurs, juveniles and professionals all contributed to the shoplifting loss.

"Sometimes it's only a bag of peanuts or a carton of cigarettes and when the individuals are brought into court they can't tell you why they did it," Dagenais said. "They bring out a wallet with $40 or $50 in it and pay their fines."

The amateurs who shoplift on impulse are unlike the professionals, who often work in teams and have their operations down to a well-timed art of deception. The beginner (they're all beginners until they are caught and have a police record) gets away with plenty, however. Records show that some ladies have tried to walk out of stores with their skirts covering two pounds of coffee and 10 pounds of ham — and expressed surprise at how the articles got there when they were caught.

Suggest Clinics

Much of the pilfering is not discovered, said Don Yost, manager of the J. C. Penney Co. store.

"It shows up in the difference between the book value and what we have on hand at inventory. It's called 'shrinkage' and while all of it is not caused by shoplifting of course, a lot of it is," he said.

Other managers as well as Yost believe that adults should be arrested and prosecuted if the larceny is to be controlled. And they agree that the cases should be given publicity.

Retailers of the community have discussed the problem at their meetings of the Chamber of Commerce Retail Division. They have met informally with Circuit Judge Bernard H. Davidson and they hope to exchange thoughts on the subject with juvenile and local court officials as well.

Walter Lewke, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, says that evening programs may be set up with the retailers after the first of the year. Perhaps a "shoplifting clinic" with the cooperation of affected merchants and public agencies will be sponsored early next year, he said.

Seven Shot Dead In Detroit Home; Child Wounded

DETROIT (AP)—The bodies of seven persons were found in an eastside Detroit home today. Police said the victims, three adults and four children, had been shot.

In addition to the dead, police said another child was critically wounded.

The bodies were taken to Receiving Hospital.

Police found the bodies in the home at 569 Newport.

No other details were immediately available.

Defeated GOP Still Confused

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans, repudiated in most of the past 32 years about as thoroughly as possible in American politics, are still confused and divided almost a month after one of their worst calamities.

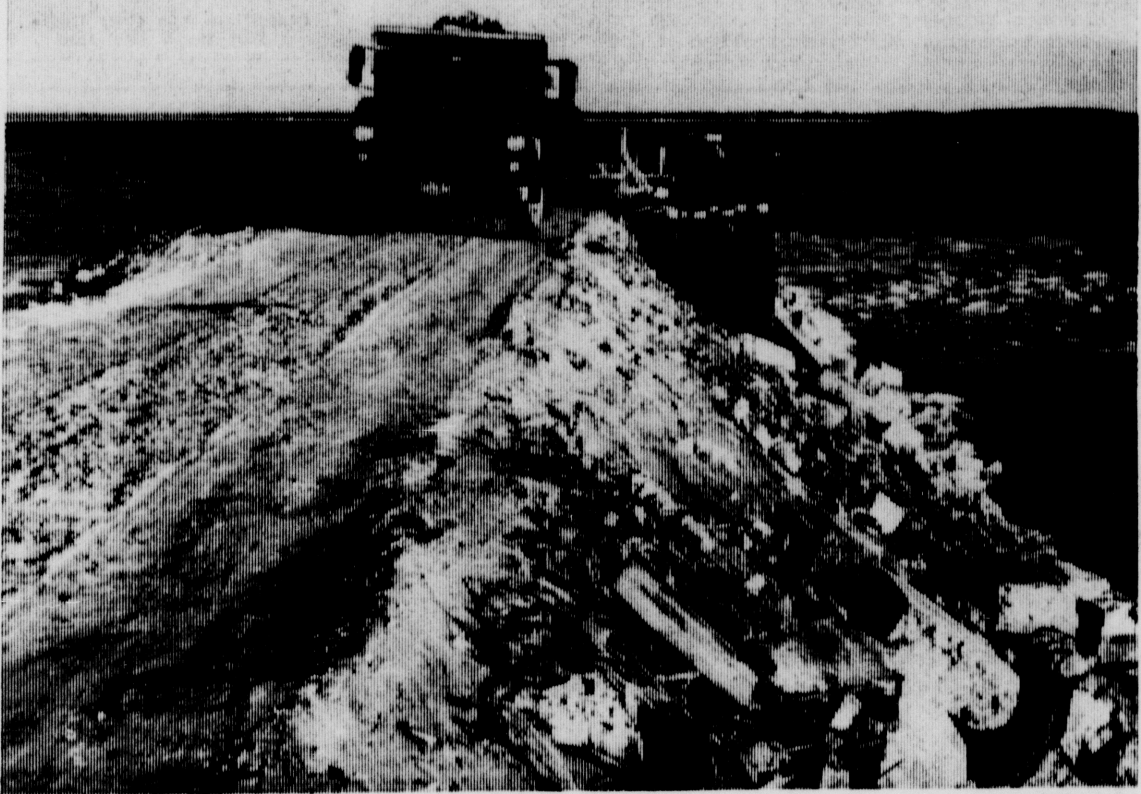

They need more than some kind of agreement among themselves to end their intraparty strife. They need a policy and an attitude giving voters far more confidence in them than has been demonstrated these past 32 years.

Only in this way can the two-party system work, with voters willing to entrust control and direction of the government to either party at fairly regular intervals.

Otherwise, Republicans are doomed to remain a minority party in danger of disintegrating altogether.

The confusion and division were illustrated again this week when on the same day:

1. Sen. Barry Goldwater, defeated for the presidency in November, stood firm against any other Republicans' attempt to throw out his hand-picked chair-

THE EXTENSION work on the causeway at Holly Corp.'s Bay View marine terminal by Steve Marvic & Son is pictured here, and also the main dolphin of the terminal's tanker moorage, which will be connected with the new end of the causeway by a catwalk on 50-foot steel trusses. The work is being done to reduce ice damage at the moorage, which sheared off clusters of piling last spring and in the spring of 1963. (Daily Press photos by Bernard Schultz)

Holly Terminal Builds Causeway To Defeat Ice

Holly Corp. is extending the causeway for tanker moorage at its Bay View marine terminal serving K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base with jet fuel to end the ice damage caused here in the past two years.

In 1963 the Little Bay de Noc sheet sheared off dolphins at the moorage when it moved in the spring under a strong wind from the south. Last spring it did it again under an ice movement from the north.

The north dolphin has not been replaced yet, but the others were restored in marine construction work that cost $22,000 one year. The clusters of piling that form the dolphins to moor the lake tankers are 70-foot-long Douglas firs and it takes 24 of them driven into the bay bottom to form one of the clusters.

The central dolphin at the moorage is of sheet metal and it is connected with the causeway to the terminal by a catwalk on piling bents. The waterway between the end of the causeway and the main dolphin is being reduced by extension of the causeway by a fill with slag from the old Delta Furnace nearby 185 feet long, 15 feet above the water and 16 feet wide on the top.

Steve Marvic & Son have the contract for the construction, which is well along. The steel trusses will span the 50-foot gap between the new end of the causeway and the main dolphin, carrying a catwalk and the pipes which carry the jet fuel from the lake tankers to the big storage tanks of the terminal, which is managed by Wade Corp., with Monroe Bouchet as superintendent.

The terminal has 8 storage tanks with a total capacity of 640,000 barrels. They have more than 21 million gallons in storage and will be filled when navigation ends in late December. Pumpage to the air base by the National Pipe Line Co. is as much as 440,000 gallons a day to keep the base's storage filled for the interceptors, bombers and tankers of the Continental Air Defense and Strategic Air Commands.

The terminal has had 28 tankers this season and has three more scheduled. They carry as much as 2.5 million gallons.

The terminal moves small amounts of fuel by tank truck and railroad tank car to keep auxiliary transportation methods operative for an emergency but most of it goes by the 47-mile pipeline, moving uphill 600 feet under 1,250 pounds pressure per square inch from the terminal with no booster pumping. It would take 60 trucks to move a day's pumpage in the line.

The terminal is without marine tanker service only about 12 weeks in January, February and March and in an emergency, said Bouchet, the Coast Guard Cutter Mackinaw could bring tankers into the terminal in the winter.

Wide Area Gets Snow And Sleet

By The Associated Press

Wet weather, with snow, sleet and rain, covered the major part of the nation today, with heaviest snowfalls of the season in many areas from New England to the Rockies.

The season's coldest weather continued in sections of eastern Montana and northern Minnesota, with temperatures as low as 15 below in Hibbing and International Falls, Minn. The mercury also was near or a little below zero in parts of South Dakota. The chilly air moved slowly eastward and southward.

The Weather Bureau posted hazardous driving conditions in many states due to the slippery conditions on snow and ice-slicked highways. The snow belt, with flurries in some areas, extended from New England to the central Plains and across nearly all of the Rocky Mountains. More than a half foot of snow was reported in many areas.

Red Guerrillas Mine Bus, Kill 26, Cut Off Ears

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Twenty-six passengers were killed Wednesday when Communist guerrillas mined a bus near Tavoy, 300 miles southwest of Rangoon.

After the mine exploded, the guerrillas hiding nearby stripped the victims of all valuables and cut off the ears of dead women to remove their earrings.

Rebels Chased Deep In Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—A mercenary-led government column penetrated further into the northeast Congo today in pursuit of rebels believed holding 500 whites as hostages. They found five more dead Europeans.

The rebels reportedly fled to Watsa, near the Sudanese border, as a government force of 30 mercenaries and 200 Congolese soldiers neared Bunia, 350 miles east of Stanleyville.

Bunia had a white population of 250, most of them Greeks, but the Congolese army found only two Roman Catholic priests there. The rebels were believed to have taken the other whites with them to join hostages already at Watsa.

Reports of the Congolese advance through rebel territory were fragmentary. Latest word said the government column was headed toward Paulis, southwest of Watsa.

At Mambasa, south of Paulis, the mercenaries said that two Belgians, a Frenchman, a German and an unidentified missionary were found slaughtered.

Harvard was the first college founded in the American colonies (1636); William and Mary College was second in 1693.

Ocean Ships Race To Beat Winter At Welland Canal

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (AP)—Nine ocean-going ships were still above the Welland Ship Canal Wednesday as the race to beat the winter freeze-up continued.

Twelve salt water ships cleared the canal from midnight Monday to midnight Tuesday. Six more cleared the canal early Wednesday.

There were still 67 salt water ships above the St. Lambert Lock at Montreal at midnight Tuesday with 19 in the St. Lawrence system and 48 above Iroquois.

Fugitive's Girl Freed On Bond

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Judy Ann Bockius, 21-year-old Detroit area waitress arrested when Raymond L. Wyngaard, 27, was nabbed by federal agents in Madison, was freed on bond Wednesday.

She was released on $1,500 bail by U. S. Court Commissioner John Adams. She has been charged with harboring a fugitive.

Wyngaard was on the Federal Bureau of Investigation list of 10 most wanted criminals. He agreed to extradition to Michigan to face a long list of charges. He was apprehended without incident as he stepped from a cab Saturday.

Wyngaard had been living in Madison for several months under an assumed name.

Miss Bockius' bond was co-signed by Mrs. Elizabeth Wisneski of Detroit, mother of Wyngaard. The younger woman said she would stay with Mrs. Wisneski.

No date was set for a court appearance.

Public Apathy Blamed For Rise In Auto Deaths

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's traffic death toll is rising because of public apathy and the driver who tends to violate the law either "by design or accident," a state safety official said Wednesday.

"The public can have good traffic safety in Michigan if it wants to," said Robert P. Briggs, co-chairman of the governor's Special Commission on Traffic Safety.

Addressing the 18th annual Central Michigan Safety Conference, Briggs blamed adult drivers for a major portion of the highway problem, but also recommended a get tough policy for teen-aged drivers.

Under present law, he said, 16-year-old drivers "can do pretty much what they like." Only the teen-ager, the Probate Judge and the arresting officer know the driver's record, said Briggs.

He called for putting 16-year-olds under the point system and holding them responsible in adult courts for traffic violations.
